The Transhumanist, Anti-Natural-Life Agenda: What Is CERN Really About? Whose Civilization Is This? What Is the Purpose of These Parasites Who Seem to Control This World?

“So the world we live in, we have to rewrite it according to how we gradually understand it now.

“It is our world, not their world. And we have to write it in a human code.

“But this is their civilization. It is only when we realize that, that we start our year zero of civilization, and we start to write our history.”

“We don't really know anything about ourselves and what we're doing here.

So when we start to see things this way, then we can open the windows... that the truth can come in, through.”

~ José Luis Sevillano

Truth Comes to Light editor's note:

For those of you who, like me, have always found themselves observing from a place mostly "off the map" and seeking to understand more about the nature of our perceived reality, this video conversation hosted by La Quinta Columna will likely interest you.

I'm going to make a brief comment here about Dr. José Luis Sevillano's speculations about the connection between Switzerland's gold and CERN...

Last night I was listening to a man speak about the strange events in 1933 in the US wherein all "citizens" were directed to turn in their gold. It dawned on him, as he studied the financial history of what has now come to be known as the United States, that historically gold has been given to conquerors as tribute when a new power steps in (and a bowing down to or submission to this "authority").

There is a lot of speculation about the events during that time and who intended what. It's clear that our ancestors who were already living on these lands and those who came here seeking a freer life, were coerced, brutally forced, as well as bamboozled into consenting to be governed. And that somehow the clever pro-freedom word-spells led them to imagine that being governed could somehow equate to being free.

This mention of gold, for me, also brought to mind the stories of Annunaki and humans as enslaved gold miners. Michael Tellinger is one who has a lot to share about that topic. Listen to the video or read the transcript below to hear about José Luis' speculation related to gold.

There is so much discussed in this latest by La Quinta Columna: control of humans and all life via frequency and induced thoughts, that strange project known as CERN, the creepy centuries-old connections between the various central global control locations and organizations, so-called aliens, underground bases and tunnels, the inversion of so much knowledge, the need to completely rewrite human history, and much more.

La Quinta Columna has always had the courage and intelligence to look deeper into what is unfolding around us. They don't have all the answers but, since the start of the "covid" global-spell, they have consistently pointed out clues to what might be happening, have asked essential questions that few even thought to ask, and have continued to challenge prevailing narratives in the mainstream and in the "alternative" spheres of influence.

I've prepared some show notes, excerpts and partial transcript, which can be found below the video. Reference links and explanations are for the benefit of readers who aren't familiar with some of the words used in the video. About half way through the video, instead of full transcript, key excerpts and bullet points are shared. I simply ran out of time to complete a full transcript. Any errors in the transcript are mine.

As always, this is provided in the spirit of conversation for those of us who have freed ourselves to question everything.

This is all about the questions and exploring ideas, not about creating or adopting rigid belief systems about how things are. It is also not about accepting whistleblower information as infallible. (None of us are infallible here. Not a one.) This is not about "believing" anything but is about questioning everything about our ourselves and about all that we perceive around us on all levels of perception. And it is about allowing the truth to come to light.

As always, no fear. We always have the power to find and stand in the eye of the storm, stay in peace and trust life on its deepest, often unseen, levels.

Show Notes & Transcript prepared by Truth Comes to Light:

Following an introduction to the Humania (Humanity) project which includes an overview of the key concepts to be discussed, Ricardo Delgado and Dr. José Luis Sevillano of La Quinta Columna, share conversation with Dr. Astrid Stückelberger.

Ricardo and José Luis speak in Spanish in this video. For the convenience of English-speaking listeners, their natural speech is covered by an English translation in a female voice. The video is available in Spanish at their various channels.

La Quinta Columna describes its work this way:

La Quinta columna is a movement of free thought, a website of reflection, of critical thinking of a creative nature, current news and dissemination of topics of interest apart from the current indiscriminate censura.

The fifth column has as its primary objective to show reality, however uncomfortable the truth may result from the nature of the events or news in which it participates, without being subject to damages and conflicts of economic, moral, ethical, political, religious interest, ideological or otherwise.

In the video shared below, Astrid speaks in English (not her first language).

Astrid is a scientist, researcher and teacher for 25 years at the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Geneva and Lausanne (Switzerland) who previously worked with the WHO on International Health Regulation (IHR) and public health emergency management between 2009 and 2013. She is now a whistleblower, exposing the WHO's attempts to tighten control over its member states and the entire planet.

Transcript:

Introduction

The human being is in danger.

Everything that defines him as a species, such as his intelligence, his sensitivity, to his capacity for willful interaction with the environment, is at serious risk of being lost very soon and forever.

In fact, the process has already started, and only those who designed it, together with some of their implementers, know it.

La Quinta Columna, made up of free human beings from all over the planet, is on a mission to reveal to the world, the premeditated plan, that lies behind the events driving us in a near future to the integral loss of our very nature.

This project is the transhumanism, also called the fourth revolution.

Three characteristics define it. It's universal, involuntary, and harmful.

It's already being applied to us to all human beings, without our consent and with serious damage to our health, including death.

To this end, four parallel operations have been set in motion.

The health crisis, the deployment of artificial intelligence with its surface and satellite networks relying on supercomputers, the Ukrainian war with its political and economic consequences, and the climate change.

These four operations have a final objective to transhumanize a large part of our species within the shortest period of time.

From La Quinta Columna, we wish to bring together all human beings aware of this situation, in a movement of consciousness that we will call: Humania.

We don't want any other thing than the awareness that we are in danger, and for that we offer you the evidence.

Everything starts from the optical microscope observation of the contents of the vaccines to be accepted very soon, if not enforced, upon the entire population.

What they contain is likely to form a brain-machine interface, and to be modulated from mobile phone antennas.

We have thus neuroscience developing an interface introduced by deception through trickery and coercion to all humanity, while implanting a whole planetary network of antennas with the collaboration of all governments in the world.

And on the other hand, a war and a climate change that will reset the economy, politics and our way of life to the point of ultimately subjecting them to the interests of transhumanism.

We don't know who are the ones that are doing this to us. We don't know what they're trying to get by doing it, but they're doing it.

A large part of humanity is collaborating in its own destruction, and does not know it.

Humania has arrived for the whole world to know. We want to stay being humans. We want to live in harmony with our ecosystems and with our fellow human beings. We want to take advantage of all our scientific technological knowledge, to put an end to diseases and misery in the world.

But they will never allow it.

Humania will help us defend what we are and what we want to be. It is the hour of humanity. Help us let the world know. Humania. [Humanity]

Ricardo Delgado:

Hello and good morning. Welcome to this meeting, this talk, conversation with La Quinta Columna.

And obviously we have Dr. José Luis Sevillano with us and also Dr. Astrid Stückelberger, who is our special guest because we want to talk about a series of subjects that we think are of great importance for the development and the future events with regards to human beings.

So we're going to be partial in this meeting and we can talk freely because probably later we will edit some parts that they otherwise be censored by the official narrative and has to do with everything to do with the message.

So just to put this in context, Astrid, you know the empirical scientific result of the first part of La Quinta Columna's research.

And at a certain moment in time we opened up to the energy paradigm in order to look into another series of entities that were purely energetic in nature.

And just to summarize, basically we have reached the conclusion that this type of entities direct or govern the world. They govern our civilization and they've been doing this forever. And quite possibly they also did this with older humanities that they've already resetted.

So in this respect, one of the subjects that we would like to touch upon is everything to do with the CERN, the European Organization for Nuclear Research, based in Switzerland.

I'm not giving anything any new news because they might say that they're going to discover the famous "God particle" or the boson. But quite obviously that is not its purpose, that famous physics laboratory that is located in Switzerland.

And so based on our research, we have come to the conclusion that this type of entity needs two types of energy, either to be able to survive or to feed themselves.

They prey on the human being.

And one of them is geo-energies, i.e. energies that are within or on the planet with a high magnetic content, or an electromagnetic content in an artificial fashion.

And bio-energies, which they extract from human beings in this case.

Even from animals. And this, therefore, leads to everything that we know about sacrifices or history.

It would appear that the CERN was founded in 1954 as a big physics laboratory, where the so-called logistical deployment and the economic deployment was to find the famous "God particle".

And that is everything that they tell us. But quite clearly, that is not its purpose.

And we very much suspect that all of this has to do with food, energy, energetic food to these entities, i.e. these people, within this terraforming of the planet, they are generating the conditions that are suitable for a very probable appearance.

And so, therefore, what we would like to know is what it is you've been able to discover about the CERN, any information you might have, and probably amongst us all, we may be able to gain some more knowledge about all of this.

Perhaps José Luis would like to add something before you take the floor?

José Luis:

Well, I actually will wait until Astrid has spoken, because I have an idea that's just come to me in the last few days that will surprise, I think, surprise people.

I mean, I think everything we're living through is like a book almost, a novel, and I believe that the CERN, which is located in a mountainous area in Switzerland with underground tunnels, right next to the biggest gold deposits in the world, maybe there's a manufacturing of a huge coil with a high level of conductivity, which is probably manufactured with gold.

And quite possibly these people are using the gold from the reserves of the Swiss banks, that they've accumulated since this existed, in order to generate a very high level field that allows them to exist. Not in an entry portal, but rather it allows for their existence in our medium in conditions that are kept very secret.

And this has to do maybe with the satanic ceremonies and the inauguration of the [?] facility, which is not far from the CERN, and all those tunnels that are being... exist in all directions underground in Switzerland towards Zürich and Bern.

And that... this country is plagued with tunnels. And it's probably the only country out of all the countries around it that has maintained, even in the most awful wars throughout the last few centuries, they've maintained these tunnels to maintain the reserves of goodness-knows-what down there.

So, for many centuries now, it is a place that accumulates its gold as countries in Latin America did.

So gold is being accumulated underground, such as the [?] out there in Peru. It's called the Golden Chamber.

And so those golds have existed everywhere. Energy entities, and like this, they can generate big electromagnetic fields.

So we're not seeing a portal through where they can come in and out, but rather a condition – well, they need that energy and they generate that energy with those elements that they find.

And so they are quite clever. And they find these precious metals. And they make human beings accumulate these metals so that we work on devices that we think are for a certain purpose, but they're actually for another purpose.

And so it's another trap that they use so that we can work for them without actually knowing what for. And like this, we can condition the medium in which they can survive very nicely.

So to go to the CERN, to the 15-minute cities, is a question of power and electromagnetic...

And we see what they're doing with our density in all these electromagnetic fields all over the world. And this will continue to be the case.

But the fact that they're talking about the CERN – this is one of the main mysteries that exist – means that we are touching upon something – the existence of these beings amongst us – and we are discovering the reality.

And probably you, as you're in Switzerland and are in touch with people who have worked on this, you may have been able to discover things that go along these same lines. And so it's good for us to be able to exchange ideas.

Astrid:

Woah. Thank you very much, José Luis and Ricardo, for inviting me to this extraordinary approach to humanity, which is hidden to all of us. And I think that you're the only one who goes so far.

And I'm very grateful, because I've always been very interested in going beyond and finding the power, scientific explanation, and metaphysical explanation to what we're living. So we're right here.

So about the CERN first, in Switzerland. I want to say that Switzerland – actually, you're absolutely right. Switzerland is situated on a geo-biological apex of Europe.

It is the highest mountain is Monte Bianco that I see since 30 years from my window. And working with geo-biologists, the Monte Bianco and the mountains of Switzerland, from Zermatt – which is a pyramid, actually – and all the chain up to [?], are very powerful in the vortex of our electromagnetic earth field.

As we all know, free energy comes from the highest mountains down.

And so when I speak with people who understand energy, geo-energy, they say that Switzerland is a highly telleric¹, powerful plant.

And many have gone to study this in the mountains, in the highest mountain. And there's even a person who gave me a book that I can show you.

You see, I can give it to you. [Astrid holds up a book titled "Genève – Mont-Blanc"] but it's written by [Jacques ?], and he says Geneva Mont-Blanc, a very high planetary energy field – because of his feng shui, [?], sacred geometry, geomancy, geobiology.

So this is important to know that very often – it's not just very often, it's always – the satanic and the dark energy comes and positions itself, specifically in places where the high energy are.

You have Tibet, you have Maui, who was attacked, and etc.

So the CERN is no wonder that, in fact, the CERN is situated like a broadband from the Mont-Blanc down to Geneva. That's how they explained it, those experts.

And they can measure that with their instruments of high frequency, low frequency, and above its scale, which was known since a long time. Merme Abbé [Abbé Mermet] – and it comes actually from a lot of monks who were very advanced.

But anyway, so you're right, I never heard about this gold, but it makes completely sense why Switzerland has become the root of where even the CIA is based.

I have documents here. Ten reasons why Switzerland is home to the CIA, Central Intelligence Agency, is because all the UN agencies, the most important, are in Geneva. And the Bank, the International Bank of Settlement, which decides for the gold, for everything, is in Basel, which is Baal, where Stückenberger is from origin of Baal... So I've been interested in the story.

So this makes sense, I want to say energetically. Now, I'll just give one more information.

So I was very interested in the CERN, and I had relations with them because they are part of the United Nations. Nobody knows this, but they have exactly the same type of documents and agreements.

It's always the same thing referring to the International Court of Justice, the UN, and it was the history – dates just after the World War. You know, all the Nazis were in Switzerland, and they started rebuilding this UN Euro lab, and the Euro lab with CERN².

CERN is, it stands for European Council for Nuclear Research, but actually it was – the first resolution was in 1952 and 11 countries signed an agreement of provisional countries in 1953. And then more and more came. And then there was a convention. And then now, I mean, the United States is part of it, etc.

So they have a name CERN that refers to Cernunnos, which is the god of the deer, and you can go and look at the history of where it is situated.³

It is an altar of Appolyon [also spelled Apollyon] and this altar is actually a cult, a cult for evil.

And they are having cults... I had just last week, a French priest, exorcist, said that he was there when they have killed the baby on the altar of Shiva, this symbol that you see in CERN.

So I'm just taking case studies to exemplify things that are hidden to us. You can even see on YouTube a video of the CERN making their cult in the CERN.

So it is a very mysterious place, it's a place where I have been for scientific collaboration for showing what they do at the UN Open Day. And I was always shocked to see very old officers. The museum is pitiful, like if they don't do anything, like they're all, you know, old presidents who don't know how to decorate the buildings. And when you know what they're doing, it's absolutely crazy.

And I will say one more thing, and then we can discuss more in detail. I encountered – I've always been interested to meet those nuclear physicists. And I was in Portugal in 2016 for the kind of wedding dinner, and I was lucky enough to not be at a boring table, I was with two physicists, nuclear from the CERN.

So the whole dinner, I bombarded them with questions. And my key question was: how many dimensions do we have in this world. Because we know one, two, three, four, some say there are six. Michio Kaku says there are 11. But, in fact, they said 17. Very clearly.

And I said 'is there an agreement with the whole CERN that there are 17 dimensions?'. He said 'yes'. I said, 'so where is it published?'. They couldn't answer that. And I said 'give me a proof', (I'm making it short), but 'give me a proof'. And they said that something extraordinary that happened.

And that's when they said, (I might have said that before), but that's when they said 'well, we have a portal of the LHC, the Large Hadron Collider⁴, you know, where they put all our subatomic experiment, and they were sitting in front of that door. And they opened the LHC, and another being came out, and sat at the table.

And I said 'what type of entity is that, what type of being?'. And they said 'We can't describe. We don't know. We are just second-hand in the CERN, we know that.'

And then I said, 'Well did it come back?' And he said 'Yes, they came back.' And this being, it left a scarf. 'What type of scarf?'. I was like very puzzled. And they had not more information, but they had that information in 2016.

And it's confirmed now by the CERN agenda. Just to go and type the CERN research agenda and the director called Sergio Bertolucci. On 8th of April, when there was the eclipse, there was a whole, a big propaganda that the CERN was going to roll out their activity again with the Large Hadron Collider LHC.

And this director said in a report that he was expecting beings to come through the portal – entities, he said entities. He said the word entities. And he says that they're exploring ways in which extra dimensional space and entities might interact with our own That's very important for what you're doing.

The second thing is that the research agenda has different topics that we can go in details another time. It's entities, extra dimensional dimension with entities coming in and out, portals. The other one is wormholes. The other one is black holes. Another one is space time change.

There are many others like that. All the things that nobody understands. It's like you know micro lab at one point nobody understands, and space is exactly the same. So we are in front of something not normal, that nobody knows. And it's great we can talk about it here.

Ricardo:

Well there is something very interesting in what you said because you've spoken in terms of inter-dimensional portals whereby these type of entities would come in and out.

For us, all of this is a kind of confusion. It's there to confuse us, because they don't need a portal to come in and out. What they need is electromagnetic density to be able to manifest themselves.

And CERN is not a portal. It is that electromagnetic density that is manifest probably through very strong magnets and electromagnetic fields.

And, in fact, in the introduction that you have done, yes, Mont Blanc, the mountain, the first condition is that it is a geomagnetic field of the energies that they need. And then the second thing, the bioenergy you referred to, you said that sacrifices are done there. So therefore they have the necessary conditions to be able to coexist.

I'm going to allow José Luis to take the floor now

José Luis:

Yes, the most innovative thing here, because what it's all about is that lately we have a mindset in that inter-gloom there whereby we create a barrier in terms of all the concepts that they've conveyed to us from parascience or official science, and we try to look at things in a different way.

We try to think out of the box as it said. Because otherwise we're managing incorrect concepts as they want us to do. Because we realize that the information comes from them. So we constantly place a shield around us.

In terms of the wormhole, for example, and the energy portal, in our opinion, we think these hide a trap. They try to induce that in our minds. And it's because they actually come from other dimensions or elsewhere. That's what they say.

Whereas we know that they govern everything. And what they're doing is hiding themselves behind that idea, and that there are portals, that they come from elsewhere, so that we don't realize that they actually live amongst us.

The difference from us is that we know that they are here and that they need an energy, and an extra contribution of energy to be able to manifest themselves, before our ability to perceive them.

And so, therefore, what we're seeing lately is a global manifestation of these entities in our reality. And it could be called the apocalypsies or other religious terms because I'm sure they've manipulated those texts too.

But basically that translates into the idea that they are attempting to be present amongst us as they already were in the past, in older civilizations. And there's ample proof of that in our own physical world with drawings of them, stories about them, carvings in stone.

So we know that these people were here and they were visible for older humanities and for us. There are certain cultures that have co-existed with us up until very recently in terms of millennia.

So this CERN business, we believe, is part of one of the mysteries that hides their presence amongst us.

And the fact, as you quite rightly said, the fact that there are governmental bodies of a very high level means precisely – that confirms our hypothesis or our thesis that those people govern the world, and they need to be present in certain places from where they can govern our world.

And in fact, I haven't taken a look but from the time in history where Switzerland started collecting gold, we need to know when those people then started locating themselves in that place in the world. Since when are they there and governing the world?

There were centers of the world elsewhere, but when did it go to the center of Europe and when did they start looking at the possibility of being able to create the necessary machinery to manifest themselves to us?

Ricardo:

José Luis, this business about gold, I think it's because of the high conductivity it has. Is that right?

José Luis:

Yes, I'm not obviously a physics expert but gold is the third element with the highest conductivity I believe, whereas the micro circuits only use gold very occasionally in certain devices, giving it privilege over copper and other metals.

Now, why would they use only small amounts of gold in some circuits to give greater quality and rather than using it, maybe to make it not too expensive, these circuits – but maybe they're hiding the fact that gold actually has a higher conductivity than other metals.

In fact, gold impregnates the walls of the tunnels of the Kongkancha, in Lima, in Peru and we know that it is full of energy entities of this nature – where they carried out sacrifices, and where they go have always come in and out, and they've been described in the Inca culture. So we know that they need gold and mercury, metals of high conductivity, to manifest themselves or to relate with us.

So the fact that gold is the third element in terms of conductivity and they gather it. It's not a precious metal for us. It's not us that say it's a precious metal, vis-a-vis others. It's them that say these are precious metals. And then we have to get it out of the mines and gather it, and consider it precious, and place it in certain places.

But if I had access to CERN and could find out what those coils were made out of, I'm sure there would be gold there. And it's interesting to know that a huge coil might be impregnated or mixed, \, to be able to create an alloy or even pure gold that is next to the highest reserves of gold in the world.

It just seems like chance or random, but there's no, it's not by chance at all. And if we take into account the E-factor – which for us is that those that govern the world, that represent those who govern the world – that's when we start to understand how the world works, why the CERN is in Switzerland, why everything is underground in tunnels.

So for us this is one of the many mysteries where we can look into this and discover what world we're living in under this idea of the E-factor.

I don't know if you've been able to read the book, Astrid, and whether you think these ideas might be true, but when you start looking at things in this light you see the economy, war, science, medicine in a totally different light.

Look, lately I've been drawing up a list of authors, famous writers, who have been parasitized, prayed upon by these beings to insert thoughts into human beings.

So even the culture that we've inherited from times back, they've actually taken possession of the authors and they have used them to convey messages.

So there's no manifestation in our culture. It's not their culture through ours. And we can't know that what surrounds us is their world. It's ours.

I just want to say that this is really a passionately interesting work of fiction. So really these reserves in the paving of Zurich is being used for the construction of the work in CERN. And this is the demon's work for human beings.

Ricardo:

Astrid, I wanted to ask you, when you talk to those physicists who worked at CERN, did you have the impression that they were developing any kind of technology? Collaborating more likely in our destruction, self-destruction? Perhaps actually realizing they were collaborating in this destruction?

Astrid:

Well, the physicists I talked to at the table, they were very kind and nice and looked naive.

But what I can witness is, when you go to CERN itself and you are with the high level people, they're always very secretive about it and this is all about research, research, research.

But like you said, when now we can reread everything they're saying, everything they have done, as I said, the movie they're making is that it is very old buildings.

But this since "covid", the pseudo-covid, they have made new incredible tubes above ground that look like some space ship. So what I think, like, I really think it's absolutely right, what you're saying. Where you're going with the book is that they are actually now manifesting much more obviously their presence on earth.

I have been there. I've met people. I thought they were alien from the club of Rome when they wanted me to get in. I thought this guy doesn't look like a normal person. Anyway, I've met on my way.

But now everything that's happening, of deception, and everything they're lying about is so crazy that we have to do what you're doing – is question everything.

Even the linear way of evolution, the linear way of history, the dates of history are not correct.

I mean, we know that, but we are very high beings and, for me, they also want to use, like you said, Ricardo at the beginning, our very high level frequency. They want to bring it down and they want to take off the gold from us, because everybody has gold in his being. That is something in biology, I didn't know.

And some people who did the vax have lost the gold, which means the light, which means the vagues⁵.

So there is something about gold, which is also used in all the religious or the geometric sacred geometry, because it is also a protector apparently. You cannot conduce, like with other material.

So we have to look at both sides. That we are getting elevated and they don't want that. So they're manifesting.

I want to get back to how Switzerland was constructed. And I see now the origin was founded by the Knight Templars and Saint John in the 1300s.

And then what is interesting in the story that the Nazi started to put – the dictator(s) all came here. And the Holy See⁶ has a very important "Holy C". The "C" is for CIA, they say, and it is because CIA is in Switzerland, headquarters in Switzerland. I was confirmed by a military, from the US military retired and I would really trust him and I never mentioned his name.

But I said, 'Is it right that the CIA is under the lake of Geneva, the headquarters?' And he said, 'Yes. And I can even tell you there are 400 people, entities, living there. And that they have tunnels all over it. That's we know this, to Jerusalem, to the Vatican. And the tunnel goes to Genova.'

And I have a hard time to believe this, of course, because we have been programmed that we cannot live under a lake.

But the Russian army came. There's a monastery on the other side of the lake, San Benedicto, you know, those guys who combat the devil. And I had a talk at the beginning in 2021. They invited me and we discussed.

And I said, 'You have any manifestations around?'

And he said, 'Yeah, the Russians came, and they did it with a big submarine to go and look what is under the Lake of Geneva.'

So you have it there also – this whole power plant of granite and mix of the geobiological. I think there are many things they're doing. But there's one thing they do, they try to get rid of our power of electromagnetic field.

And in the mountains, it's much easier for us to be heightened. If you go up 1000 meters, I know this from geobiologists, and exorcists and priests, because I think we have to read this in many ways. If you go high up in the mountain, it's much easier to not be polluted by all their their horrible things. So we are safer.

So this whole Switzerland. So the Holy See has a base in Switzerland. It makes so much sense.

And Switzerland is called confederate, “Confoederatio Helvetica” CH. [This is the Latin name for the Swiss Confederation. This term is often abbreviated as “CH.”]

Helvetica, I say many times, “helvetet”... you say in Swedish and Norwegian, which means go to hell. So Helvetia, I never understood why they use this word, is the door to hell.⁷

And many people with the Appolyon, everything I read, a site, is that it is a door to hell.

So they’re trying to make a hole for themselves to block our own free energy and freedom. Beautiful Switzerland doesn’t understand this.

I always wanted to leave, but I’m here probably for my mission. I signed to come here, to talk about it, and to collaborate with you, because it’s a very important, energetic place. But I never liked Geneva energy.

It’s cosmetically nice, but the energy here with the banks, the Freemasons, the secret societies, this materialism that’s so, so hard. It is very difficult to take.

Show Notes & Excerpts (starting at approximately 37 mins in).

Astrid:

- Calvinist agenda.
- Attempt to disrupt and confuse the equilibrium between men and women.

“Why are they wanted to do confusion in this. Is because we create energy...”

“There is something there that we have to go and look into because they really try to replace a man with woman, and woman and man, and confuse everything about our own creation, not only geobiologically. Those entities are crazy...”

- Reference to the work of Robert (Bob) Dean on government/alien connection.

José Luis:

“So, well, what is definitely true for – whatever reasons, we don’t know exactly – all this is accelerating, has been accelerating lately, something we didn’t expect. So that we seem to have entered an apocalyptic stage that we cannot, we did not expect. And this is true, but we don’t know exactly why this is being done.

“Why? Perhaps we’re at a technological level that has allowed us to speed up and speed up, because these are not material entities. They depend on us to work in the reality that they live in.

“So they depend on us, in our work, and we’re not going to talk about dimensions here, but in this reality, our reality, material-energy-based reality, which is dense as it works, this is thick energy or dense energy. And in this reality, we are the only people that can modulate and contribute to the reality, but they’re directing it...”

“And now we’re at the moment where they are very, they’re all powerful because they are directing their societies, with total secrecy, and nobody realizes and they’re being totally effective in this...”

“So perhaps possibly in the CERN, you were contacting scientists possessed by these beings, so that they themselves didn’t realize they were creating portals and mediums which would suit these beings...

“So it was a German scientist after the war who talked about people suddenly disappeared when they wouldn’t collaborate in the scientific projects.

“And they were one or two people who were kept alive even if they didn’t collaborate because they were particularly necessary. But their thought ... put into human beings’ minds so that the science that these beings want is being developed by human beings.

“So this is perhaps too big for most people to understand. It’s almost impossible, for most people to believe that our world is being directed by others. But this is the only way that we can really understand what’s going on.

“So the world, these thinking physicists are not so free-thinking or independent-thinking as we might think...”

- Creation of coils, isolators Insulator
- Creation of underground tunnels and underground bases, including the work of engineer Rafael “Raph” Kamler⁸

“So all beings, human beings who are able to develop great things are interesting for these beings and they induce in us this ability to be able to create what they want...”

“So what’s going on here is a center of research which is a human research base but directed by these beings. And they are experimenting with densities which are needed by these beings, so that they can finally manifest themselves in front of us...”

Ricardo:

“So the general idea that José Luis is talking about, and I agree with this, is that these people lead human beings, talented human beings that they channel, so that they will develop the technology that these beings want, and they can manifest themselves indirectly and then directly in our world later on...”

“So this is why they are officially creating with these coils what they need. And so, when they talk about portals and dimensions, as you mentioned Astrid, this is the argument that they want to keep away from human beings. But they need densities, electromagnetic densities, to be able to exist and be able to manifest themselves to show themselves.

“So this is why they’ve placed millions of antennas of all around the planet...”

“And part of this fumigation, this spraying from the air with these self-assembling polymers which amplify microwave signal, that’s all part of it.”

José Luis:

- Mysterious, very tall, castles of the Rhine that have never been inhabited by human beings and could not have been used for defending routes

“So we are being fooled totally. Whatever they want to fool us with – at the top of the pyramids, for example...”

“So the world we live in, we have to rewrite it according to how we gradually understand it now.

“It is our world, not their world. And we have to write it in a human code.

“But this is their civilization. It is only when we realize that, that we start our year zero of civilization, and we start to write our history.”

“Our civilization is theirs. They’re directing us. They’re not just passing through...”

“We don’t really know anything about ourselves and what we’re doing here. So when we start to see things this way, then we can open the windows... that the truth can come in, through.”

Ricardo:

- Shares some information about the work of engineer Diego Hernandez
- Video demonstration of a football event and human emotion being measured on an electro-magnetic meter
- Correlation of animal sacrifice in amphitheaters to generate emotional response that can be harvested
- Symbolism used in public events
- The tie-in with religions

José Luis:

“So they are everywhere, these beings. Absolutely everywhere. Their rights, their cultural rights are directed by these beings.”

- Catholic church and exorcisms

“So nothing in our civilization, when we looked at these events, can be considered as real. Because there is a filter. They’ve touched everything that we’ve done. And everything is useful to them, everything that helps them to fight against us is approved, and everything’s manipulated. And we are made to think that we created these things.”

- Governments are working for these beings, and operate to protect these beings and harm human beings.
- CIA, UFO narratives
- Comets in medieval times seen as bad omens

Astrid:

“I want to say there is a constant. When I listen to you also, it makes clear it clearer that they need fear. They need despair, fear. Even a football match.”

- Australian studies on changes in hormones when fans team is winning or losing.

“They don’t they don’t want us to have happiness. This is a constant.”

- Media promotion of how horrible everything is.
- Promotion of mass vaccination
- The UN propaganda about “the future”

“They need to say that the world is a horrible place when it’s not true.”

- Difference between Christus and Fibonacci energies. Christus energy repels lower “satanic” energies. ⁹
- The “covid” injection to lower human frequency and transhumanize us. They also do this with vaccinating our animals.

- QR codes lower frequencies by structural design
- The importance of gaining more understanding of how plasma is used
- How the history of the Vikings has been hidden.
- Gods, demi-gods, etc. as part of history and not just myth

Richardo:

“Yes, quite clearly the energy that they use, or that they need, is that of suffering. And this is why human sacrifices generate the conditions to create concern, fear in humans...”

- The attempt to genetic-modification and vilification of tobacco, which has been used in healing by indigenous people throughout history.
- Recently nicotine has been shown “to neutralize, or offset, or even destroy the inter-body technology that has been introduced into us via those inoculations”.

“So they have the capacity to be able to organize, control and govern our world to that extent. And most human beings will work and collaborate hand-in-hand with them, thinking they’re actually doing some good.

“Everything works in the same manner. Just like technicians and engineers, high level engineers, that may be working in the CERN, they think that they are working on positive things for the good of humanity, doing or making certain discoveries. Nevertheless, they are actually developing or carrying out the agenda of these entities, because it is in their interest to do so. And it includes sacrifice and suffering of many human beings.

“José Luis, would you like to add anything to that?”

José Luis:

“...This fight between species and the meaning that this has for creation on a global level...”

“But this, in terms of Creation, is important. Nothing is by chance. It submits species into very difficult situations to perfect these species. And we haven’t actually touched upon this yet.

“That if we touch about on this we come to what the Mexican chap said. He said the human beings, when they were able to have a high vibrational level, they could not be attacked by these other species.

“And, so those human beings that have a behavior that allows them to live full lives as human beings, and not vibrating on low levels but a higher level, they are protected by the Creation system. ...”

- First part of our work is to describe everything that is happening
- Second part is to understand what we are living through
- We have been living through a physical chapter the last few years
- We are now coming into the metaphysical world and the meaning of all this

Astrid:

“Yeah, I really do agree with you all. It’s this hive which David Icke was talking about. This hive group that they’re trying to collect during those Olympic games and those ceremonies...”

- Misleading us through diagnostics including in medical treatment
- Carbon-dating is another incorrect diagnostic for historical records

- “I think they they are trying to lead us in the wrong place for many things with diagnostics...
- Essential oils of lemon and grapefruit for dissolving nano-tech.
- Cinnamon and black cumin seed oil are also mentioned for healing.

Ricardo:

“I think that this business about the CERN, I see this as a neurologic center of their operations... And probably they will manifest through them – not through a portal, but because they have the electromagnetic conditions to manifest their density, which is the nature that they are made of.”

¹ The term “telleric” is often associated with “telluric” energy, which refers to natural electromagnetic phenomena that arise from the Earth. Telluric currents are low-frequency electrical currents that flow through the Earth, influenced by various factors like solar activity and the Earth’s magnetic field. In some contexts, it can also relate to earth energies in alternative healing or spiritual practices, where it’s believed that the Earth’s energy can affect human well-being.

² The “C” in CERN stands for “Conseil,” which is French for “Council.” The full name is “Conseil Européen pour la Recherche Nucléaire,” or “European Organization for Nuclear Research” in English. Despite the English name, CERN is often referred to by its French acronym.

⁵ The word "vagues" is French, and it translates to "waves" in English. In various contexts, it can refer to:

1. Physical Waves: Such as water waves or sound waves.
2. Electromagnetic Waves: Including light waves and radio waves.
3. Metaphorical Use: Describing general ideas or movements, like "waves of change."

⁶ The Holy See (pronounced "see") refers to the jurisdiction of the Pope and the central governing body of the Catholic Church. It encompasses the Vatican City and its administrative functions. The term "see" comes from the Latin "sedes," meaning "seat," indicating the bishop's authority.

The Holy See is distinct from the Vatican City itself, which is the physical territory. It has its own sovereign status and conducts international relations, making it a unique entity in global affairs.

⁷ The Swiss word for Hell is “helvetet”. Helvetia is the Latin name for Switzerland, often used in formal contexts. Helvetisk is an adjective meaning “Swiss,” derived from “Helvetia.”

⁹ Christus Energy likely refers a higher spiritual consciousness attributed to Jesus Christ (or others with “Christ consciousness” regardless of religion) that would include the qualities of love, compassion, healing, and enlightenment.

Fibonacci Energy typically relates to the Fibonacci sequence, symbolizing natural patterns, growth, and harmony found in nature, such as in the arrangement of leaves or the spiral of shells. It can represent a balance and connection to the universe, as this sequence is often linked to the Golden Ratio, which is aesthetically pleasing and prevalent in art and nature.

Christus energy often implies a connection to the divine or a higher spiritual plane, whereas Fibonacci energy reflects universal laws and natural phenomena.

*On March 19, 2023, La Quinta Columna held a conference in Seville, Spain titled “El Juego Ha Terminado” – The Game is Over.

Below, you will find a large portion of the video transcript. This transcript was primarily taken from the translation into English which was prepared by La Quinta Columna and inserted as subtitles.

This conference set out to reveal the true origin of ‘covid-19’, the real causes of death in today’s excess mortality, and the final goal of the transhumanist agenda.

Ricardo Delgado is the primary presenter for the conference and does all of the microscope slide demonstrations with commentary.

An important segment of the conference included live demonstration of how various vaccines and other injectable pharmaceuticals appear under the microscope.

During these demonstrations, Ricardo explains the technology called Micro-Raman which identifies the unique frequency of graphene oxide.

And about the “corona” or spike protein, Ricardo explains:

“Well, the biomolecular corona is what happens in the biology, in the blood, when graphene gets in. It is surrounded by plasma proteins because, logically, proteins have structural functions. What they will do is try to engulf, to wrap, the material in order to pass it unnoticed.

“What they have done, in the Pfizer vaccine, is to camouflage it in lipid capsules, in order to outwit the immune system.”

“Etymologically speaking, the word virus means toxin. And obviously you’ve seen that graphene is a toxin, wrapped by a corona.”

Ricardo describes the unique properties of graphene, including radio frequencies, which is so important to the “interface” that is intended to control all of humanity. He explains the self-assembly of interface circuitry that they speculate is taking place.

Wherever possible, I have added links to documents in English as well as additional information that can be helpful as background if a topic is just mentioned in passing. Key words are also highlighted throughout the transcript.

Presentation and Introduction.

Excerpts from Ricardo Delgado's introduction:

...And above all, most importantly, what is the ultimate purpose of this whole operation?

Why are they doing this?

Why are they introducing this material into injectables?

The highlight of this conference is precisely something that someday we will have to put statues to.

And that is a microscope. A simple optical microscope. Upper mid-range. The Axon Achilles 2 microscope. But with high definition quality to see everything inside the injectables.

The first thing we have to mention is that from an optical microscopy point of view, you shouldn't apparently see nothing. We're talking about microscopy size. The material should be homogenous, if anything, some sucrose crystals. But what you see there shouldn't be there at all.

And also, logically it isn't contamination. Because we are seeing it through the mediation of more than 26,600 people in the Mira al microscopic channel, for example, and in other parts of the world, etc.

In other words, what is in there has been consciously introduced.

Ricardo Delgado shares about the formation of La Quinta Columna [Fifth Column] as an independent research group.

Dr. Sevillano, as you know, is a doctor based in a rural area in the south of France. Tanus is as the town is called, a small rural municipality.

And when all this started in 202, he began to receive patients in his office, devastated, with what they call a process of pneumonia and what they call covid lung.

So, I'm not going to talk much about the intelligence and the strategy, of the deep knowledge of Dr. Sevillano. A restless person, who quickly established a basic epidemiology of the disease, placing thumbtacks of a certain color around the number of patients coming to his office. And he also placed other thumbtacks with other types of patients who had mild symptoms of what they called then covid-19, but who really were patients with electrosensitivity...

At some point in time, he went toward that focus and indeed verified that there were large mobile phone antennas. So he took his radiology notes and from there he realized there was more than a relationship here.

Ricardo explains how they were introduced to Dr. Sevillano and how they proceeded to conduct further investigations into the correlation between these "covid" symptoms and wifi towers. They focused on nursing homes.

What differentiated the elderly in residences from other elderly people who also lived in regular housing but weren't in a nursing home? It was the flu shot... 100% of the elderly in a nursing home were getting the flu vaccine.

When the vaccination campaign for what they called covid-19 started, we had the opportunity to rescue a vial, a vial of Pfizer through Rafa Navarro, a policeman from Alicante...

That vial, we already had hypothesis on the table based on certain phenomena that were occurring. One of them, very clearly, was magnetism, which has been so denied, but which you'll evidently prove that it exists.

Magnetism in the inoculated people. They had become magnetic people and, logically, knowing what we already knew about radiation, there was going to be an interaction, not exactly positive.

If we're magnetic now after the inoculation and we're surrounded by sources of electromagnetic radiation increasingly higher, and also scalar and millimetric as is the 5G, that is going to have a positive interaction.

There were some materials that caused magnetism within human biology, but graphene stood out. It was in fashion and funded through the Graphene Flagship. This initiative in Europe – 1,000 millions euros for the study of graphene and 1,000 millions euros for the study of the human brain. The Human Brain Project. They go hand in hand.

We'll see why.

Ricardo explains how they connected with Dr. Pablo Campra Madrid at the University of Almeria, PhD in chemical sciences and graduate in biological sciences.

He analyzed the sample. Initially...he asked us what hypothesis of suspicions we had, what we intended to find.

Genetic material?

'Maybe, but look for graphene.'

Dr. Campra's surprise, initially, was how is there going to be graphene here?

'Look for graphene.'

It was examined from the point of view of optical microscopy, electron microscopy, and an ultraviolet absorbance compatibility test. Everything pointed to the fact that there was indeed graphene.

But, four months later was when we actually had access, now, to seven vials from four different brands:

AstraZeneca, Moderna, Johnson & Johnson, and Pfizer...

And he told us that if we wanted to structurally and chemically characterize the material, the Raman vibration of any material or particle was going to give with total certainty whether it is graphene or not. And a sweep was made of 110 graphene-like objects, of which, unequivocally, conclusively, 28 were graphene. And, specifically eight, reduced graphene oxide.

From there we started to check the toxicity of the material and we realized what we're going to see now...

Thesis development and presentation of scientific literature

In the following presentation, Ricardo shares a variety of articles related to graphene oxide studies and experiments that reveal its influence on animal (and, therefore, human) biology. He alternates between reading from the articles and offering commentary. It's not always clear which is which. The articles are displayed in Spanish. I have been able to locate some of them in English and included links within this text. A collection of PDF links are also found at the end of this article.

So, the first thing we're going to do is introduce today's live stream with what the graphene oxide pattern is...

Graphene is a 'wonderful' material, as they say for everything, but not to put it inside the human body. Because it is hardly biocompatible. And it obviously causes damage. It's toxic.

But, in addition, its toxicity depends on that source of radiation, because it has the capacity to be radio modulable.

Ricardo presents images from The Graphene Box, an online store that sells graphene:

A single milligram is worth €300. But with one gram, to give you an idea, we could cover an entire soccer field. It's a material with a capacity...with a minimum amount, it can be stretched...it's malleable, transparent... It has a series of properties...

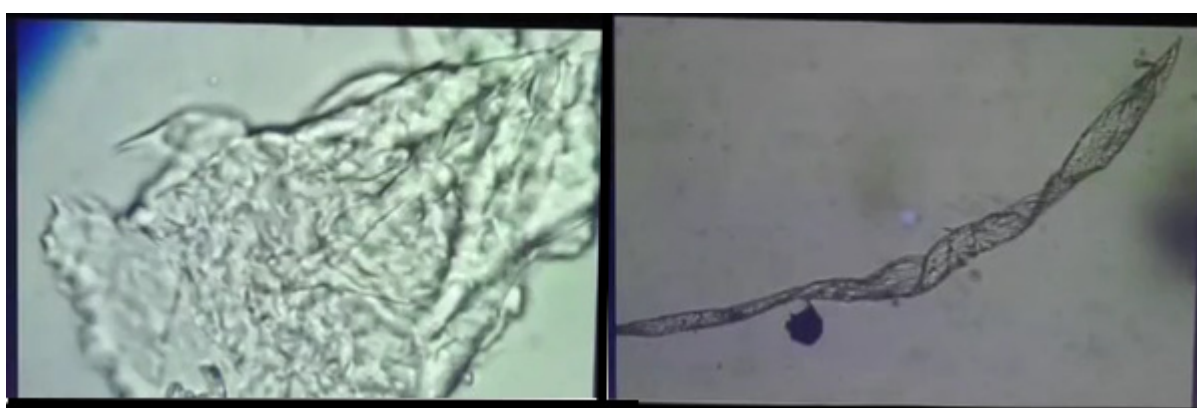

In addition to being superconducting, which in biology is not good at all because it will have an affinity for the heart and neurons. Which is exactly what they're looking for. Reduced graphene oxide solution...

Ricardo shares a video of graphene micro sheets.

The material has FOLDS, and the edges tend to... fold back on themselves. They have a high surface tension. Therefore, many times we are going to find it at the end of the drop of the coverslip....

Apart from the micro sheets...they're also going to appear in BANDS, RIBBONS

In the popular literature, they were colloquially referred to as morgellons. Today we know that they are reduced graphene oxide and are blue, reddish or black. We also know that, depending on the color, they have different functionalities.

Neuronal functionalities, related to the whole synaptic issue.

Evidently, this type of monstrosity does not have to be inside any injectable.

And you'll see that in a single drop of one square centimeter we'll find tens and hundreds.

We carried out a qualitative study to see whether or not there were any. Which would be more than enough to bring this all down.

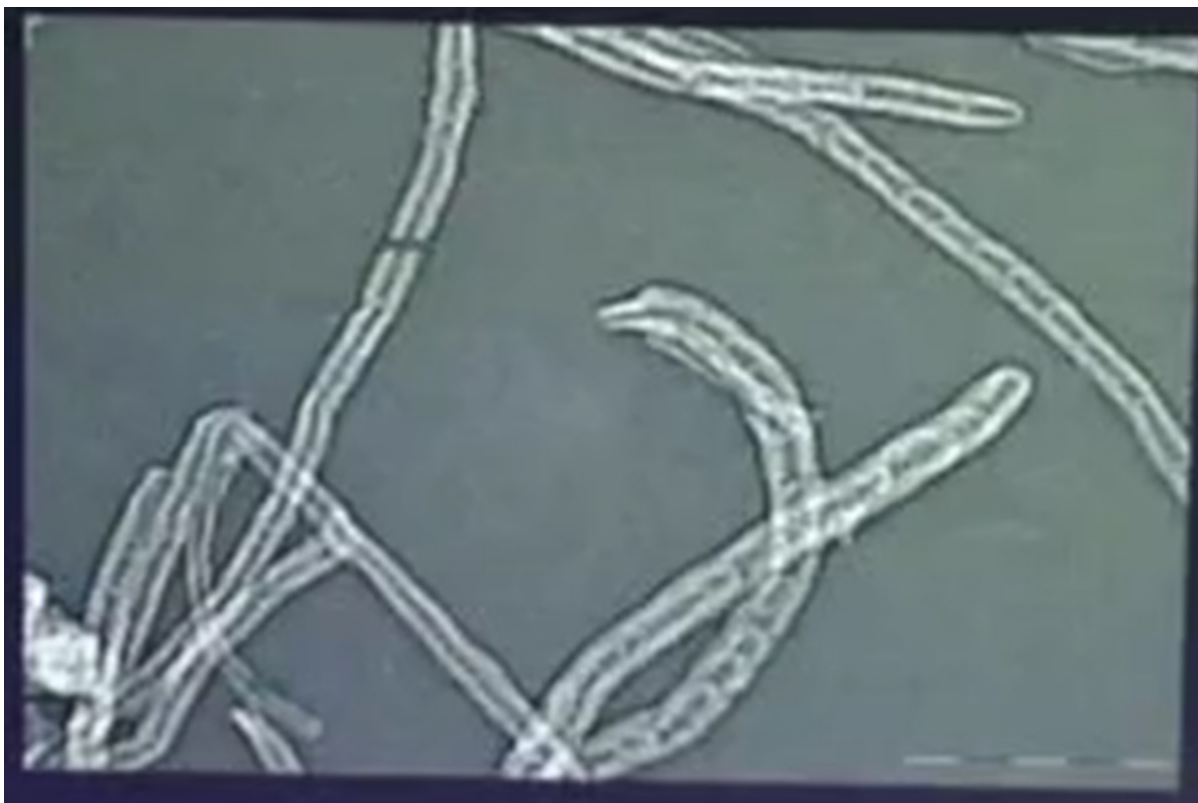

The quantitative study to quantify the quantity has not been done, but accurate estimates can be made.

Well, this is the pattern of how graphene oxide shows up. But it also occurs in nanotube format.

Carbon nanotubes, which is this right here.

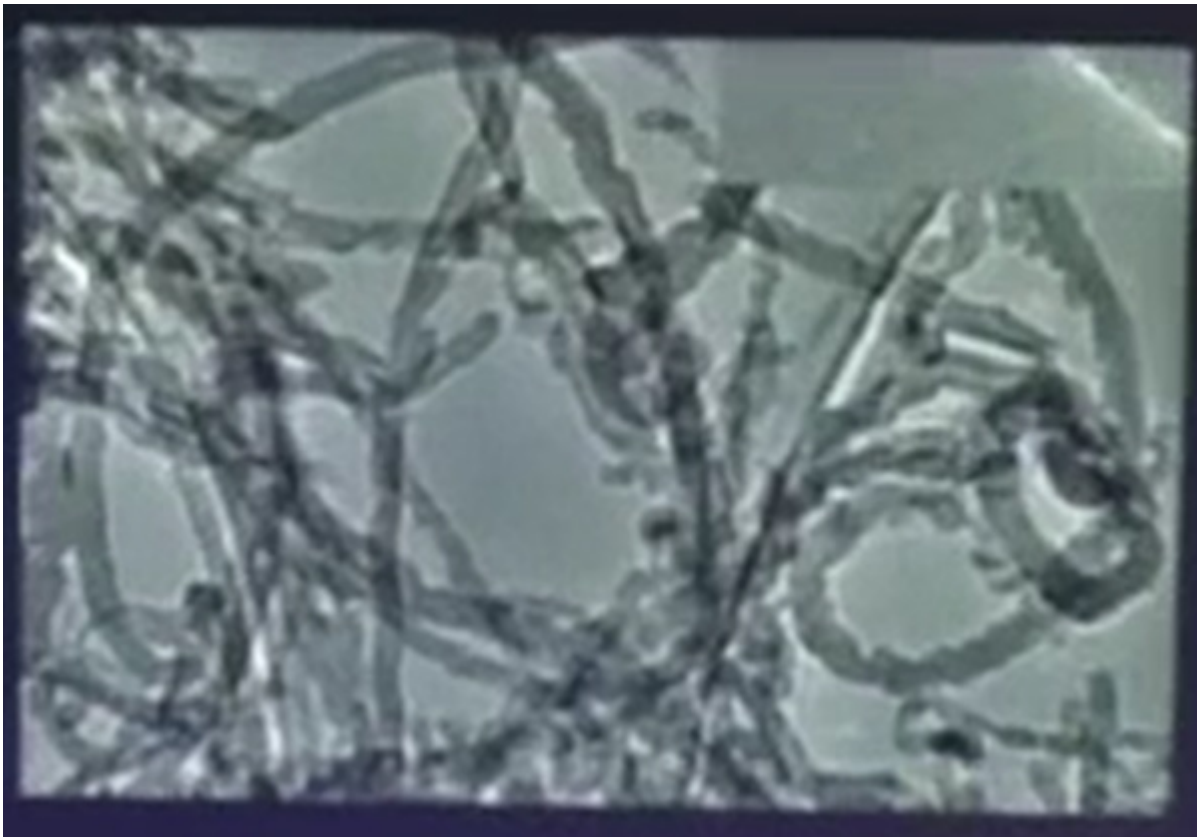

This is graphene, likewise, but geometrically arranged in the shape of a tube, rolled up in the shape of a tube.

Since it's a superconductor, it has the ability to have electrodes, or to be used with an electrode and link one neuron to another.

Carbon nanotubes have applications in neuron networks. This is very important because the target of everything we're going to see is the head. The head. Somehow they are after our brain.

These are from electronic microscopy, but at low magnification. The optical microscopy, this one, will give details of everything we're going to see.

Indeed, what are graphene nanotubes or carbon nanotubes?

Single-walled or multiple-walled nanotubes, which would be more layers. They're graphene surfaces rolled into a tube shape. They have superconducting properties.

We already know graphene is actually extracted from carbon, that is, from graphite.

We already know graphene is actually extracted from carbon, that is, from graphite, which is a type of carbon, by physical or chemical exfoliation.

The first time it was exfoliated was with adhesive tape – that , we peel away layers of graphite until we're left with a practically two-dimensional layer, which is the transparent one they call graphene.

But if we have a layer with another, with another, with another, up to 11 from a practical point of view, it's still considered graphene.

So, in the samples, we're going to see that some are almost transparent, and others are a little more opaque.

Graphene is translucent, transparent, it allows 97.75% of light to pass through and this has optical properties in the field of optoelectronics. So, that's where it's all heading.

This is for us...we have called it La Quinta Columna Bible.

Detection of Graphene in Covid Vaccines by Micro Raman Spectroscopy

Taking a risk, going against the tide, but validating his scientific principles above anything else...

So what does Micro-Raman consist of?

Micro refers to the optical microscope and Raman to the vibration of the material.

It is to associate those characteristic images of graphene appearance with the Raman vibration they have with the characteristic peak of the material...

The conclusion was that a random sampling of vials had been carried out. And objects have been detected whose Raman signals, the vibration they have, by similarity with the pattern, unequivocally correspond to reduced graphene oxide.

And how is this done? Well, this that seems so technical is very easy. These are Raman bands coming from graphite, graphene oxide, and reduced graphene oxide.

In reduced graphene oxide, the bands are a little bit higher, but there are two characteristic peaks that are D and G. D is approximately...at about 1340 and G at about 1580...

CHARACTERISTIC RAMAN BANDS OF GRAPHITE, GRAPHENE AND DERIVATIVES

- G and 2D: crystal structure of graphene and graphite
- D: crystalline mesh defects

Here we have...one of the objects selected in the Pfizer vaccine. Nomenclature ROS2 HIG1.

That means it's the Raman scan, where the bond is going to go through. You go through the electron scan and the signal it gives us is – you see the characteristic peaks of reduced graphene oxide, i.e. approximately 1340, which was the peak D, and 1576. There's a margin. 1580 which is the graphene peak...

2. PFIZER 3
ROS 2 HY GO1

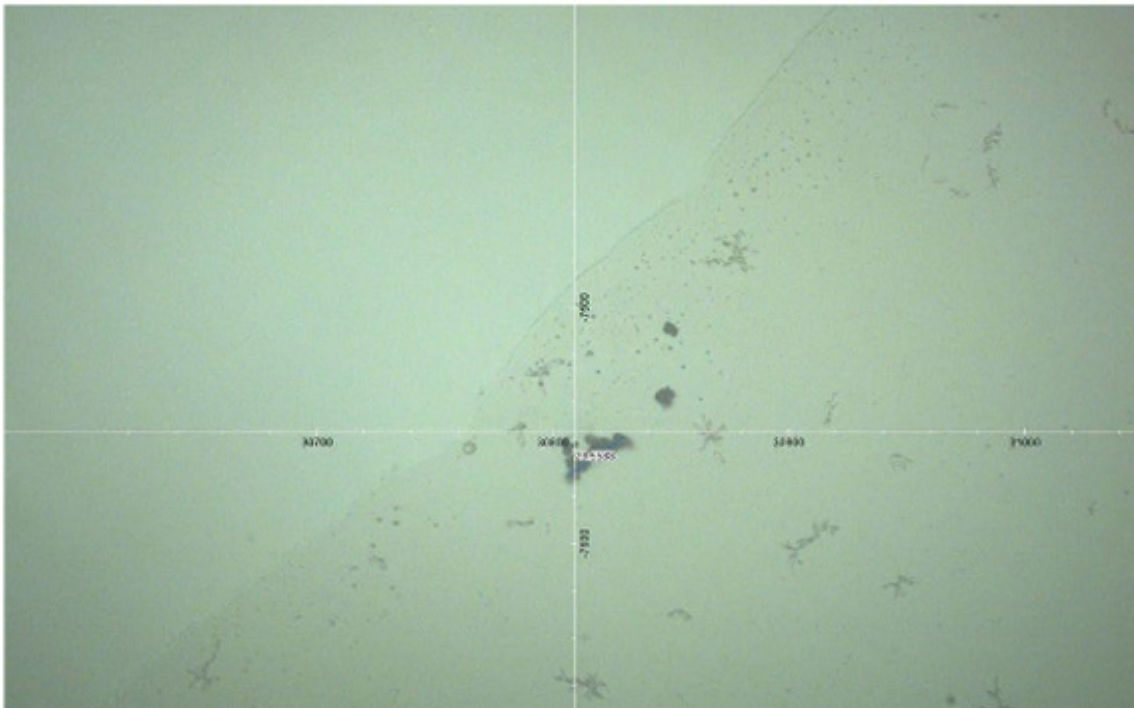

$$I_D/I_G = 1.22$$

In the AstraZeneca one, the same thing. Graphene-like objects are selected. OK? And we still have the characteristic peaks.

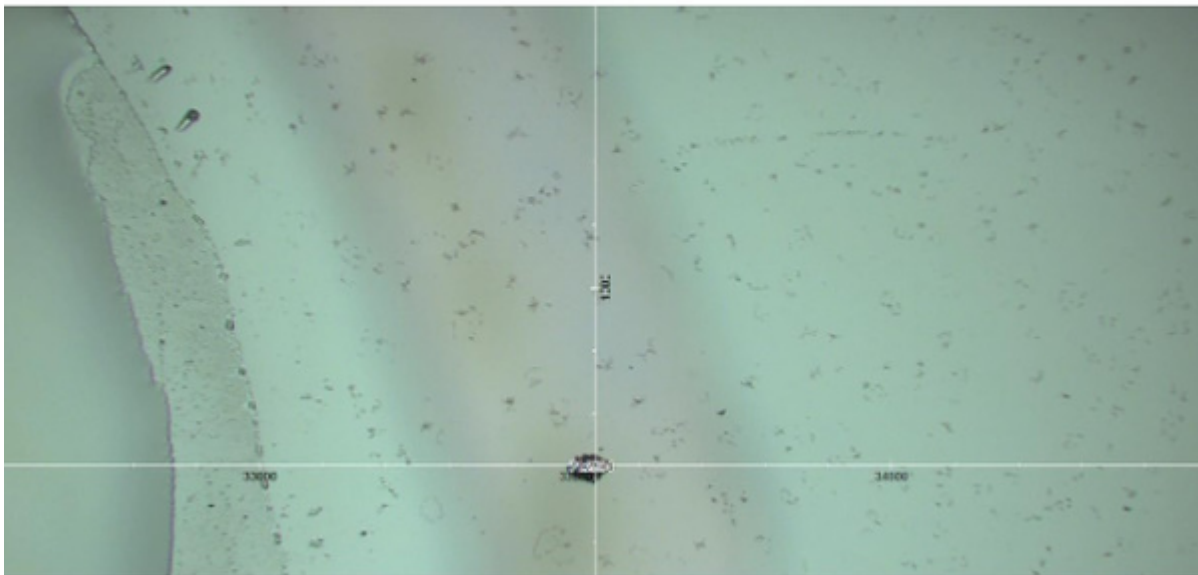

Several were made in each injectable, but we're going to take one as a sample.

5. ASTRAZENECA AZ MIT UP CARB1

In Moderna, same thing. You see the peaks 1580 and 1340. The G and D peaks characteristic of reduced graphene oxide.

8. MODERNA MOD lump1

On Johnson & Johnson, the same.

Graphene oxide is detected in the body by specialized cells of the immune system

Researchers at Karolinska Institutet, the University of Manchester and Chalmers University of Technology have shown that the human immune system handles graphene oxide in a manner similar to pathogens, possibly leading to safer biomedical applications in the future.

...and the first thing that caught our attention was this article from Graphene Info.

Graphene oxide, which is what Professor Campra has found, is detected in the body by specialized cells of the immune system, i.e. it has an immune response. Logically, we introduce a foreign material to biology and the body will respond...

[from the article] “Researchers at Karolinska Institutet, the University of Manchester and Chalmers University of Technology have shown that the human immune system handles graphene oxide in a manner similar to pathogens...”

Ricardo reads more from the article:

“Graphene oxide is currently being studied for use in various drug delivery methods."

There is an obsession with introducing graphene into biology. An obsession...

More from the article:

"However, it is of critical importance to understand how these materials interact with the body. The study shows that neutrophils, the most common type of white blood cell specialized in combating infections."

Attention! Because they are normalizing the term infection linked to graphene, although it is actually an intoxication of course.

They "release so-called neutrophil extracellular traps" (a neutrophil "web") "when they encounter GO" (graphene oxide). These webs are made up of a DNA web.

That's important. Decorated with proteins.

And we start thinking, what if what they've called SARS-COV-2 is graphene at the nanoscale, which is about the same size as what they call viral particles. And that envelope that others call a spike protein is this protein-decorated corona?

But then you're going to come to that conclusion.

The researchers found that graphene oxide causes specific changes in the lipid composition of the neutrophil cell membrane.

Important what comes next:

"They could also show that antioxidant treatment reversed this process."

To which José Luis says: "of course, radiation generates oxidation". Graphene, we'll see later that it's a radiation catalyzer. Therefore, antioxidant have to work.

In fact, I'm going to say it now, from the medical point of view, they only work with what they call covid, which is very extensive. Anti-inflammatories, antioxidants, which are normally also anti-inflammatories, because they neutralize the radiation that inflames, and anticoagulants or anti-aggregates...

Here Ricardo shares articles on the toxicity of graphene.

TCTL editor's note: The exact article he is reading from is not clear, but I found two articles containing the same graph. See: [Toxicity of Graphene-Family Nanoparticles: A General Review of the Origins and Mechanisms and Graphenic Materials for Biomedical Applications.]

As of today, what do we know about the possible toxicity of graphene? A review of the available empirical evidence on the toxicity of graphene has recently been published.

"The figure below shows a diagram of possible mechanisms of cytotoxicity."...

Ricardo continues:

It talks about the introduction of graphene by different pathways, which we are also going to review.

“Graphene can induce the generation of substances that produce oxidative stress.”

Oxidative stress, free radicals, i.e. reactive oxygen species. In short, it’s inflammation. Therefore, if it generates oxidative stress, the antioxidants work. Ok?

“These alterations can cause different types of damage. First of all, physical destruction of the cell.”

We’re talking about apoptosis, i.e. cell death...

“Damage to the plasma membrane.”

That’s the membrane that covers the cell.

“Inflammation.”

This is very important because, actually, what they call covid-19 is an inflammation. It is a systemic inflammation with a biological response mechanism...

"DNA alteration."

Notice that we're talking about DNA alteration. Ability to change human genetic material by introducing that material into biology. That's crazy.

"Mitochondrial damage."

I.e. where there is the mitochondria, where all the cellular energetic process takes place. If we have mitochondrial damage, we have extreme fatigue... That fatigue that characterizes the patients called covid-19, or inoculated people, which is the same.

"Apoptosis" – that is cell death – "and necrosis." Necrosis is cancer, black tissues. If there is DNA alteration, one of the alterations may be the cancer itself...

So, we put in graphene or graphene oxide and the first thing is an inflammatory response. And also, the inflammatory response generates a cytokine response. In fact, it generates a cytokine storm...

...what comes to everybody's mind? Covid-19, right?

The cytokine storm. The proinflammatory cytokines. An inflammation so big that it ends up killing the individual...

[...]

...That is, how graphene enters the human biology.

There are four ways of entry, but two that stand out in terms of toxicity.

The first is going to be the blood. When graphene touches the blood, logically it will have access to all the systems of the body.

Let's talk a little about oral administration. Look what comes up:

"RGO sheets."

RGO is reduced graphene oxide for its acronym in English.

"Small and large, labeled in such a way to assess bio-distribution."

That is, how the graphene – those sheets – is distributed within the biology.

And there is an obsession to introduce it and try to lower the toxicity so that the deaths it causes aren't so noticeable...

"Both materials were found in the blood."

That is, orally, it somehow gets into the blood.

"After 60 days" – it is still there – "the heart".

Important, it's a very affected organ in everything we're seeing today: strokes, heart attacks, cardio and cerebrovascular accidents.

"The lungs."

Important, because what the elderly had was what initially they called bilateral pneumonia, and atypical.

And then the liver and the kidneys, logically – the kidney to filter the blood and the liver as a purification organ.

"In the last case, the in vivo bio-distribution after oral probing with PEGylated graphene oxide was investigated."

PEGylated is polyethylene glycol. And if I talk about polyethylene glycol, we know that it's a declared component within what they call covid vaccines. What a coincidence that polyethylene glycol is going to functionalize graphene in toxicity studies and also appears in the Pfizer vaccine, for example.

"The inhalation route."

This is very important because it is the route by which they're going to do it with the intranasal vaccine of Luis Enjuanes and company.

"It is of key importance for human exposure" ... "to test bio-distribution after intratracheal installation."

The idea is to introduce it by different routes and see which one has the most or least biodegradation, because it's in their interest to have the material permanently present in biology...

"The vast majority of graphene oxide sheets were found in the lungs."

I.e. when you inhale it, it goes mostly to the lungs...

"Smaller amounts were also detected in the blood."

Likewise the liver and kidneys, as organs of purification.

"The macroscopic observation of the blackness of the lungs."

The blackness of the lungs is what appeared in the plates, those bilateral pneumonias. Here it's done with rats. The problem is that from rats we've moved on to using human beings, and also all of them together.

"It revealed that the materials were long lasting. Black regions were found for up to three months."

The three-month data is important because we were dosed just every three, four months, i.e. when the material starts to be eliminated by the lung – because by the lung it is eliminated...

“However, there was a clear decrease in blackness from day one to day 90.”

“Suggesting an elimination in the lungs.”

[...]

One of the common routes of administration for biomedical applications of nano-materials is the intravenous route. This is the vaccination. The vaccination campaign for billions, systematically repeated in all parts of the world.

Here it is said that a greater accumulation of graphene oxide has been observed, and now it says PBST, which is polysorbate, in the lungs. The polysorbate 80 is the adjuvant that is used as detergent in the flu vaccine.

That is, the covid vaccines have been functionalized with polyethylene glycol, and the flu vaccines have been functionalized with polysorbate 80. And when it is with polysorbate 80 – that is, you visualize seniors in nursing homes – the material undergoes major accumulation in the lungs...

This material also has an escape route to the brain. And watch out because we have a blood brain barrier, that is a membrane that separates the brain from the external environment, from chemical pollution, even biological. However, the material penetrates. And they are going to do everything possible to get it in because that is the goal.

The authors reported that the materials agglomerated and formed macrostructures, up to 0.5-10 microns in the lungs, liver, kidneys and spleen. Still present, these clumps, after 90 days, despite some minimal signs of degradation at the edge of the material.

That is, the material is practically indestructible. The body chooses to eliminate it since it cannot be degraded or takes a lot of work. We already know that it is hard, 200 times harder than steel...

Assessment of the toxicity and carcinogenicity of double-walled carbon nanotubes... A two-year study. Here they will tell you it generates cancer...

A foreign material is being introduced, and the body responds with a pro-inflammatory cytokine that generates this lung inflammation that has been called bilateral pneumonia...

The carbon nanotubes are composed of concentric cylinders of graphene.

Graphene oxide touches blood. That is, this is the intramuscular route. The in vivo interaction with bi-dimensional materials.

“Even though graphene oxide is made with the same atoms as our organs, it’s a carbon derivate. Its bi-dimensional nature causes unique interactions with blood proteins and biological membranes, and can lead to severe effect like thrombogenicity.”

“In this review we will describe the journey of graphene oxide after injection into the bloodstream, from the initial interactions with plasma proteins to the formation of the ‘corona’.”

[...]

If I put together the concept of cytokine storm and pulmonary inflammation, or pneumonia, with the concept of corona, what are we talking about?

Well, the biomolecular corona is what happens in the biology, in the blood, when graphene gets in. It is surrounded by plasma proteins because, logically, proteins have structural functions. What they will do is try to engulf, to wrap, the material in order to pass it unnoticed.

What they have done, in the Pfizer vaccine, is to camouflage it in lipid capsules, in order to outwit the immune system.

But they also need certain entry routes to generate that toxicity, so that people will continue to take it... Because it has to act as an interface. It needs to be inside the body so that it is capable of what you will see later: neuro modulation, neuro stimulation and neuronal monitoring.

[...]

Etymologically speaking, the word virus means toxin. And obviously you've seen that graphene is a toxin, wrapped by a corona.

[...]

Ricardo shares another article that explains graphene's toxic effect on sperm.

"When sperm mobility is recounted, the number of spermatozooids in the male reproduction, you see that it is dose dependent. In other words, the higher the dose of graphene oxide, the greater the infertility. And a large part of the population is sterile today.”

Ricardo shares another article:

Toxicity Evaluation of Graphene Oxide in Kidneys of Sprague-Dawley Rats

Another article is displayed which talks about intranasal application of graphene oxide:

Here is described a study in which mice – that is to say in humans, so that we understand each other – were exposed via intranasal to sheets of graphene oxide dispersed in aqueous solution. The influence of the lateral dimensions of the graphene oxide sheet on the degree of translocation from the nose to the brain, and the biodegradability is what they’re studying here.

That is, on the one hand, they study that depending on the shape it has – and this is what they have done in trials – depending on the shape, on the dimensions, the material will last more or less within the biology.

Then, the biodegradability, that is in a month from now, how much of the material is left? In three months, how much is left? Because we have to put it back again and to put it back again is the second dose, the third dose – and in this case via intranasal, which is the vaccine being prepared by the CSIC, for example, in our country [Spain].

“Recent studies have also shown that carbon nanotubes, including graphene oxide, which is the same, can undergo a biologically mediated degradation.”

This is very important because here it talks about dimensions. And we are going to see different patterns, as we have seen in the first video, of graphene oxide.

These are trials. That's why they call it trials of vaccination. They are looking for the form that has the least toxicity, and stays the longest in the biology, specifically in the neurons, which are what they are looking for.

The idea that the lungs and other components of the respiratory tract are targets of nanoparticles – nanoparticles in nanoscale size – inhaled has been held firm. That is, if we inhale in a nanoparticle format, including the aerial fumigation – which is important because we see it daily [Ricardo points to the sky] and many people are unaware – these nanoparticles are going to pass into the respiratory tract.

But, beware, it is not the same to have an intranasal instillation probe, at very high concentration, than to spread it evenly in the atmosphere. You will swallow, but not as much as they'd like. That is why they need to introduce it via intranasal.

“Evidence from epidemiological studies, clinical trials, and animal experiments have shown that extra-pulmonary organs, such as the brain, may also be affected.”

In fact, we're going to see that graphene inflames the brain...and inflammation kills the neuron, that is, it erases the content of its memory. We are talking about neurodegeneration.

We've talked about the intranasal vaccine, right? We're talking about intranasal instillation. Well, this is the Luis Enjuanes' vaccine.

[See Spanish Scientists Start Trial on Inhalable Covid-19 Vaccine for background on Luis Enjuanes. A web search will bring up articles by and about Enjuanes and his work.]

Obviously, that man is a criminal. He has full knowledge of what is happening. He isn't ignorantly working for an official version in which he believes that the intranasal vaccine, through that route of administration, will cure something.

This virologist leads the project for an intranasal vaccine that has demonstrated its efficacy in mice...

What they want to reduce is the toxicity. Because obviously, you've already seen that in reality there is no virus. We do not have real sequencing or physical isolation of any pathogen called coronavirus...

But the deception goes much further.

For example, in Argentina – see that it is the same – a nasal spray will be on trial...

Turkey, news from 2021, advances in the first intranasal vaccination against covid-19. Who presents it? Listen, it is not the minister of health or sanitation, it is the minister of industry and technology...

Mustafa Varank reported that the preliminary stages of the trials have been successfully completed and phase one in human testing will begin soon.

And in the same body of news we find this:

Turkey's Minister of Industry and Technology, Mustafa Varank, said that a group of scientists from the company NanoGrafi – NanoGrafi is a multinational that produces graphene...

See related links: [Turkey developing intranasal COVID-19 vaccine and NanoGrafi website.]

This is NanoGrafi. In the website you can order graphene in different forms, nanoplatelets, graphene sheets, graphene solutions, carbon nanotubes, which is graphene geometrically arranged as tube, single-walled multi-walled..

Here Ricardo plays a video related to the work of Spanish scientists on graphene and magnetism. [A web search on the conductivity of graphene and graphene magnetism will bring up related videos.]

Voice in the video:

“Imagine a material that, in addition to being flexible, is the hardest in the world and also conducts electricity. It already exists. It’s graphene.

“From it a whole world of new technologies can be developed. But, it wasn’t perfect. It lacked magnetism. A group of Spanish scientists has managed to grant it that gift. How? Mixing graphene with living molecules...”

And what is the use of graphene being magnetic? Well, magnetism is what makes it possible to store a lot of information, for example, on a flash drive or on a hard drive.

It is clear, right? Indeed.

Here Ricardo shares a video of his mother (with her permission). She has received two doses of the Pfizer vaccine. He uses an electromagnetic radiation detector to test himself (unvaccinated) and his mother (vaccinated).

If I put it on myself, Ricardo...it is not going to detect any magnetic field, obviously. Now we’re going to do the same with a person that has been inoculated with two doses of Pfizer, [testing] in the base of the neocortex, in the brain, in the head.

He scans his mother’s head.

Here behind, above all, is where there’s more magnetism...

She presents an electromagnetic field practically across the entire posterior portion. Also on the frontal...

[...]

Obviously, graphene is magnetic in contact with organic molecules, and in addition, since it is a superconductor, it'll have affinity for the body's electrical conductive tissues, which are the central nervous system, and specifically, the heart – especially when there is cardiac activity.

When we increase cardiac activity, we increase electrical activity. We have a heart impregnated with graphene, then what we see are arrhythmias. We've seen arrhythmic deaths, especially in athletes, where the mortality rate has skyrocketed.

Ricardo shares a video clip about the use of magnetic bandages "created for physiotherapy treatments". The video shows these bandages being used for "covid" patients.

...What the magnetic strip does is to separate those graphene nanoparticles that are causing dyspnea, respiratory distress in the lungs, towards an area where it does no harm – where it is closer to the epidermis...

Ricardo talks about the reports of graphene in the mandated covid masks.

Someone will say, "How is it possible that there are so many people participating in this operation?"... how is it possible that everyone who works with graphene...are silent?

It is possible because there is an organization called Graphene Flagship...

All the universities have collaborated, and when I say to collaborate, I mean that they have been prostituted by receiving money, public financing...

Spain is the country that participates the most worldwide. In fact, they have mapped the brain...

And what does the brain have to do with graphene? Let's see.

Radio-frequency characteristics of graphene oxide. This is very important...

Reading from another paper:

"The structure at the nanoscale level can be strong candidate for interconnection at radio-frequency range. Here it says, for example, between 0.5 and 40 GHz. That is the 5G."

The 5G is between 0 and 300. Now we're going to see that there is a range that is very dangerous.

[...]

Ricardo shares a lecture (video) by Bartomeu Payeras Cifre:

This video is important because graphene is excitable by radio-frequency...

"The pandemic is designed with these three concepts: the charge, the trigger and the thermostat..."

"The antennas... Once they've finished mounting the antennas on a tower, another team comes in... it installs a software in the antennas. And this software is connected to the basal antenna and to the control center. And this software... programs the emission power of the antennas, what time, or what hours, or what days, and in which geographical locations it is convenient to act."

"This is the software of the 5G..."

Bartomeau Payeras Cifre ties in the “covid” vaccine to the 5G rollout.

What does it mean, what he is commenting on? That, effectively, first the marker is introduced into the biology, and then they irradiate with that 5G software through antennas.

Then it generates the sensation of outbreaks, or what they call waves... Because if we don't have a real sequencing of any pathogen, there's nothing that's really airborne biologically, except for microwaves that kill and generate influenza-like symptoms...

*Ricardo shares a PubMed article that talks about 5G rollout in Wuhan at the start of the “pandemic”. The description of health issues that occur from the 5G rollout are a match for “covid” symptoms.

Listen, graphene absorbs all kinds of gigahertz to convert it into terahertz. In addition, there is also a frequency that is 26GHz that causes the maximum transistor field effect...

Ricardo shares a page from La Moncloa, Spain's government website.

“The government launches a public consultation and a call for tenders to bid for the 26 GHz band.”

And I said, damn, what a coincidence, they're going to take precisely the band that activates graphene to the greatest degree.

When they activate the 26 GHz – and they have probably done some of those massive tests already in schools and others. When this will occur it can be very lethal. In fact, they have done it with the Marburg simile, which has a 50% lethality, i.e. one out of every two.

With 26GHz, we can see instantaneous neurodegeneration, simultaneous arrhythmias...cancer within two days...

So our government and other parts of the world, they all agreed – between 0 and 300, they have agreed to take 26 GHz. This is obviously not a coincidence. This is a genocide...

Ricardo shares a clip of the ex-president of Chile, talking about 5G.

“Together with the ministers of transports, telecommunications and science, here is the launch of the bidding process for the 5G network...we are moving forward, together with the community of the leaders of the world.

“There is the possibility that machines can read our thoughts and can even insert thoughts, insert feelings. Some say that the best way to predict the future is to invent it. Well, that’s what we aspire to.

“5G is a tremendous leap forward. It is a cosmic leap, is a Copernican leap, because what the 5G technology will really mean for us is an even bigger change in our lives than what all previous technologies in this area have meant.

“The possibility that machines can read our thoughts and can even insert thoughts, insert feelings.”

Do you know what he is saying?

He is talking at the same time about 5G in the field of neuroscience...

He is talking about inserting thoughts, that is, that a person receives instructions through artificial intelligence...

Right now human beings have three dangers: artificial intelligence, ... the web network that they have implemented throughout the world with telephone masts,... and the interface that they are introducing, which is graphene oxide in the injectables.

Ricardo reads from: Unlocking the Brain With Novel Graphene Technology (removed from brain.com but can be found at archive.org)

Ricardo reads from an article on how graphene with wireless technology can affect the heart.

“...we can control myocytes and the heartbeat of the cells.”

Controlling the heartbeat means they can make it beat twice as fast, even faster, and kill a guy.

[...]

So you can see here a kind of obsession. It's in tattoos, ink, water, injectables, everywhere. Masks, PCR tests, all carry this material.

[...]

“A key to enter the brain...is a carbon-based nanomaterial” – that is graphene – “could facilitate the arrival of drugs to the central nervous system.”

[...]

Ricardo plays a clip from a La Quinta Columna warning about public lighting being changed to bluish and ultraviolet light sources. Speaking of graphene oxide:

“This material is interacting with the radiation emitted by these sources of bluish ultraviolet light... Ultraviolet radiation also degrades graphene micro sheets into nanoparticles with the ability to cross the blood brain barrier.”

---

Part 2

The Microscope: Microscopy session. Contents of the vials shown in public.

With the microscopy session here we are going to need some patience. You will understand that somehow these are not...the favorable conditions for an encounter with what is inside the microscope, through the slide, the coverslip, etc.

But here we have a wide sample of injectables. Many of you have given me a lot of local anesthetics.

Of course, the Pfizer vaccine is a great show, to say the least. The Comirnaty vaccine from Pfizer, including the original vax and all other variants issued of these injectables...

So, let's start. As I say, although there are calendar vaccines [scheduled childhood vaccines], the pneumococcal Prevenar 13, Priorix, that is apparently for measles, mumps, rubella...

The objective of the microscopy session is to demonstrate or evidence that, indeed, the material that you have seen, which is presenting certain patterns and, unequivocally conclusive, corresponds to reduced graphene oxide by Raman vibration. We are going to find it in a single drop...That is, a single drop represents at least 1% of one dose...

And we are going to be playing with certain eyepieces, first of wide-spectrum, with 100-120x magnification of what the Pfizer vaccine is.

At least a couple of doses of the Comirnaty Pfizer vax, the famous “secret lipidic nanoparticle” of the Pfizer vaccine – this is what they told us...

*Here Ricardo answers a question about a device called Spiro Disc , seen on his desk during the presentation, that transforms radiation signal into something that is apparently harmless.

Ricardo now shakes the vial of Comirnaty Pfizer vax and inserts the syringe. He explains what he is doing as he prepares his slide.

Keep in mind that there is a hydrogel of which they do tell us about in the official version. And within that hydrogel, of that aqueous solution, we are going to see, in principle, not nanoparticles – because from the point of view of optical microscopy they cannot be seen – but we are going to see how they shine. And we are going to focus on kinds of pattern that are clearly artificial patterns, quadrangular, that are dragged.

Well, what they call covid vaccines, we always say that they are something more complex than the calendar vaccines. And what appears in the photos, for example is everything that is graphene sheets etc...

Ricardo shares what he sees in the microscope eyepiece by projecting the image to the large screen. Particles are moving about in the image. He points out a few crystals. All of this is hard to see while watching the video. The audience in attendance likely sees much more than we can see.

When it gives the shape, when it rotates, you will see that it is...a quadrangular pattern...

The first and most important thing is that none of this should be seen with 180 or 100x magnification, 120x magnification, with the digital zoom at best. None of this should be seen. And yet all of this is seen.

Look, for example, this one is dragged, as I say by a small point. And what we have observed after a long, long time of observation, is that in the end, they form more complex structures. They self-assemble...

Ricardo uses a laser pointer to point to something on the screen.

Here, for example, do you see this here? This is a piece of graphene. This is a graphene microsheet.

And someone will say "How do you know it?"

Well, because we are sick of looking at it. And because we have swept the electron scanning through here and it has given us the Raman vibration. So, once we characterize the material from a chemical point of view, we already know what appearance it has. And graphene can be easily characterized as well.

But look, for example, this one here, that point really is like a square, like a rectangle. In the scientific literature they appear as graphene-based nano-transistors.

Here he uses the laser pointer to highlight some graphene. The bright spot in the image below is made by his laser pointer.

When it glows, it's because it's turning exactly at the angle of the light from the condenser. We're going to do something. We're going to put a larger eyepiece and we are going to 1200x magnification. There is already something else. Let's see. Let's give a little more light.

You will understand that all that should not be here. True? Those filaments...

Do you see that there is a band that is really dragged by particles that grab it and then form, as I say, increasingly complex structures?

There it is.

Let's try another lens. With this one here, with brightfield illumination.

Look! Look! Clearly that things over there that looks like a saber.

This, nothing of what you are seeing should be in a vaccine and nothing should be seen through optical microscopy!

The least we could say is that there's a lot of junk here, there's a lot of contamination. But later we are going to see in other types of injectables that this appears in practically all of them.

But covid vaccines have this type of objects that are dragged...

The one that comes this way is almost transparent. Do you see? Look, for example, here to the right, just at the very bottom, at the corner...

What are we seeing there? What we are seeing is self-assembly, that is, a structure that assembles with another one.

We said: Is there any kind of electron affinity for that to happen? It might be, because the graphene is doped or functionalized with different metals. That is how it appears in the scientific literature.

However, this induction of why one plate attaches another one and then forms this type of circuitry, that is so scary.

It's because there is an induction process called Teslaphoresis. That is to say, the microwaves or these "instructions" that appear, are not only for the inoculated persons, for inducing thoughts, but for – intelligently, from the AI point of view – provoking those self-assemblies within biology.

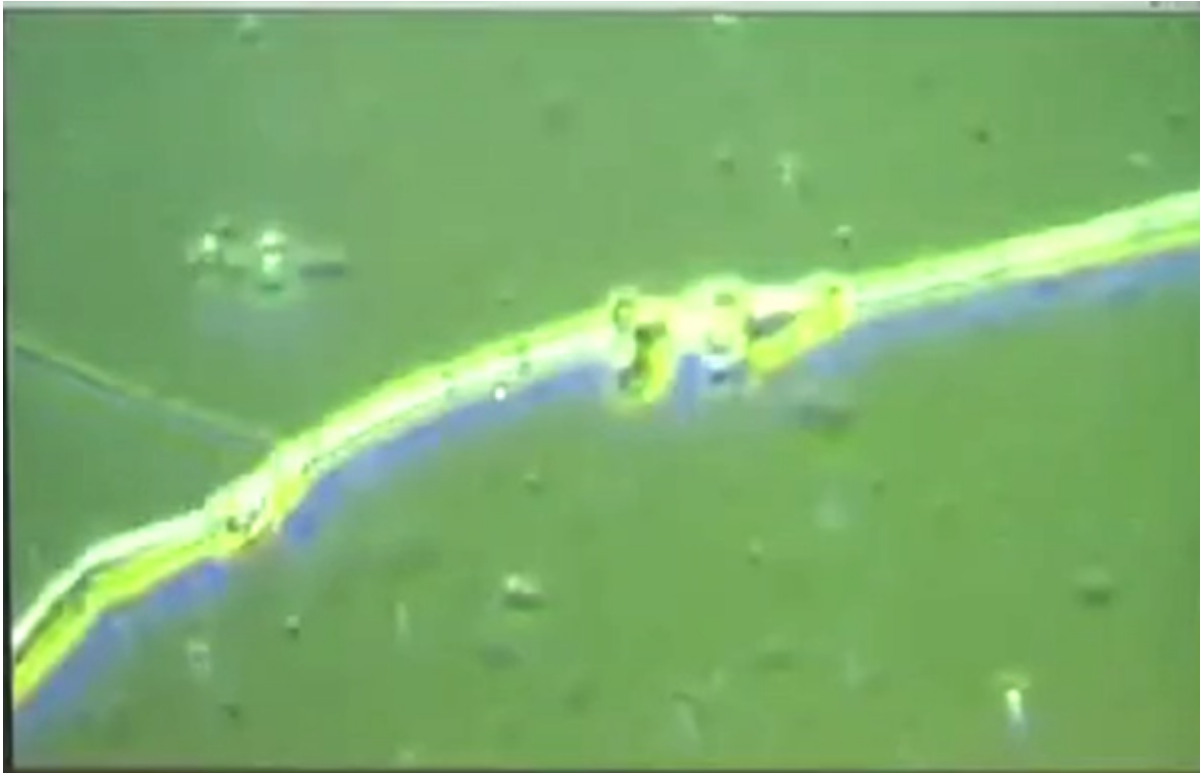

Seemingly, just due to their size, there is obviously already a potential thrombogenicity because if we start to assemble pieces within our biology, this presents a major problem.

But when...all this is assembled, and finally begins to emit signals – like the ones that vaxed people emit.

Unfortunately, we have made earlier a sweep and we have verified indeed there are many inoculated people here.

But the investigation of La Quinta Columna is precisely for them as well, that is, how can they alleviate the damage. We have already said it: antioxidants, anti-inflammatories and anticoagulants. That's the only thing that works...

Remember that we have seen before in the literature these carbon nanotubes? Those provoking cancer, that were used for neural networks.

Thus this. If we look at it now, and we look again after 2 hours, it will be bigger... Carbon nanotubes grow, we know, in the direction of the electric or electromagnetic field...

We already know that the body envelopes it with a crown (corona). These are the filaments that have been extracted from inoculated people or even deceased people due to thrombogenicity. Filaments that look like cartilaginous...

... the material absorbs radiation, facilitates the rouleaux effect, coagulates the blood, inflames and is hypercoagulable, etc.

[...]

Ricardo continues pointing out self-assembling graphene, carbon nanotubes.

José Luis said "This looks like a junkyard!"

[...]

Well, here's another nanotube or the beginning of a carbon nanotube...

We have here a x1300 to x1500 magnification with digital zoom.

Here Ricardo points out something in the center of the screen.

And the one that appears out there, right in the middle. You see it?

That is, in all probability, in our opinion, a micro or a nano-router. The entire world population is being inoculated.

When it turns around, you see, the material appears two-dimensional, but it is at least 400-500 microns long and about 100-200 microns wide. It also appears in the scientific literature. And as I said, Barcelona had an important role – José [Josep] Miquel Jornet Montaña.

There are other researchers in other parts of the world like Mat Taylor, for example, who is in Australia, I seem to remember, who have done research with colloidal gold.

---

TCTL editor's note on colloidal gold:

From Dr. David Nixon substack:

“I have discovered a way to interrupt the EMF from the wifi router I have been using which allows me to shrink and grow structures. I have three videos on my website but the latest one today is special as it shoes so much activity going on in the matrix (aka DARPA hydrogel). Shout out to Mat Taylor who did this first!”

Conversations between Dr. David Nixon and Mat Taylor at drdavidnixon.com.

---

Well, actually, something needs to be mentioned here. The fact that because this is here [points to Spiro Disc device], nearby, it is possible that it is true that somehow the induction of assembly is not as apparent as it should be – because remember that the...gold particles, the sheets of this Spiro Disc, are inducing a current and transforming it. The electromagnetic field is transforming it.

[...]

And this is important: salt crystals do not evolve in the sample. Look here, for example. You have an assembled shape. Ok? It looks like a cane.

[...]

They use more graphene, micro sheets, filaments to increase coverage – the intra-body coverage for what will be for us lethal radiation.

What we are seeing is that ultimately, the human being matters very little or nothing. Nothing.

In fact, everything they did initially already with the rats, they are doing it now with the human being...

What they call trials is to see what the biodegradation is and what type of graphene-based structures can work best for them, which means carrying it to the head and taking it to the heart for monitoring, in insert emotions and thoughts. But, if you die, they don't give a damn.

What's more, I'm not even going to call it side effects, in fact, because they don't recognize that this material is in there. They will tell you it's due to climate change.

What can we say about this that we don't already know?

They took control of everything. All power hoarded, all power through the media.

I am going to do one thing. If you allow me, I'll put this one up again. Ok? And I'm going to watch here with more...Look what we have. For example, these.

These are carbon nanotubes, and now we can see them with another view.

Why do they use the carbon nanotubes in this whole neural network issue? Because it is a superconductor, because it's made of graphene. And now it functions as an electrode, so that an axon can join one neuron with another and establish synapses or neuronal connections.

Do you understand our indignation when we saw this type of material, which also corresponds to the scientific literature and everything we know?...

It is a real barbarity and unfortunately they have managed to deceive the majority of the world's population.

If you understand that these are carbon nanotubes as shown in the images at the beginning. You know what they trigger: cancer. It's not me saying that. The scientific literature says it. Pulmonary fibrosis, lung inflammation...

[...]

At this point, Ricardo switches to looking at a dental anesthetic, Ultracaine and finds a graphene microsheet

[...]

From the local anesthetics related to tooth extraction processes for many of you who have been to the dentist, people come saying that they are more tired than necessary, that they have ringing in their ears, tinnitus, which is a consequence of the radiation...

That is, when our body antioxidant levels are depleted, like the catalase, baldness appears. When collagen levels are depleted, arthralgia sets in and eventually arthritis. These are diseases attributed to aging. But it is radiation, precisely, that causes us to age. And what we are seeing is that people age faster.

But this material has a sudden way of killing, which is by impregnating the heart, charging it, and at some point the body generates a discharge.

That is what graphene does. That's why it is used to make batteries.

If we generate a discharge in the heart, we are going to interrupt electrical conduction and, ultimately, the circulation. And that will generate an initial loss of knowledge, because the blood no longer reaches the brain organ.

Ricardo now briefly views Vaxigrip Tetra, the tetravalent flu vaccine and finds graphene. He then looks at Prevenar 13, an anti-pneumococcal. This vaccine shows lots of graphene as well.

Here someone in the audience shouts: Killers!

This one goes for the kids.

Do you know why they load it more for children? Because children have high reserves of glutathione, which is the antioxidant. Therefore, as it is the super antioxidant that neutralizes the damages of irradiation and graphene.

Children cope better with this technology than adults.

Graphene micro sheets everywhere.

[...]

What do we do? Do we denounce the pharmacy?

Do we present them the final technical report of Dr. Campra?

We have filed more than 600 complaints.

We have presented it in the plenary session of the Parliament of Andalusia. We have presented it in the European Parliament.

You know what happened to Dr. Domenico Biscardi when he talked about our work. Dead! Silvio Urasi two days before. Dead!

The former President of the European Parliament. I say former president because he is dead.

Dr. Andreas Noack talks about our work in La Quinta Columna. Dead!

Why does that get introduced to the children? You already know it. This is an interface.

[...]

Someone in the audience asks:

“What about animal vaccines? For rabies, for example. It’s mandatory for dogs.

“In July of last year, I had them vaccinated. I have ten dogs. And now, four of them have cancer! Within six months, they developed it.”

What I can comment is that, indeed, into animal vaccines they have introduced it also...

There are many...veterinarian doctors who work with La Quinta Columna, and for sure, they’ve looked under the microscope and they’re just as full. And they also have seen animals die. They die, they get inflammations, it triggers cancer in them – which is exactly what we’re seeing in humans...

Ricardo looks at Chiromas flu vaccine, one that is for people over 65. They use it in nursing homes.

You already know what happened in the nursing homes in 2020. Probably they had been adding this material even earlier, but it was not activated with the required quality of frequencies such as these millimetric and scalar waves that go directly to it.

That is why it is called a “smart material”, because it is capable of absorbing that radiation and multiplying it inside the biology.

“Smart”. Everything “smart” refers to the military.

We have DARPA, the North American military agency, which is directly involved and, in fact, there are no quality controls from the point of view of health, because everything comes from the Ministry of Defense.

It is the latest information we have. It is the Ministry of Defense of all countries that is introducing this as a vaccine, but it is an interface.

Well, let's see the Chiromas, as we have said, it's for the elderly...

And these are clearly graphene micro sheets...

Vaccines for the elderly...Remember the article we saw about polysorbate 80 that generated a massive lung inflammation?

This has been an unprecedented genocide. And unfortunately also taking advantage of the ignorance of many health workers who were initially acting in good faith...

Everyone, including myself, I swallowed the official version...

Mepivacaine, Lidocaine, local anesthetics, there are many more. There are anticoagulants... It's funny because there is Clexane or Hepaxan, which are anticoagulants and antiplatelets. while the material therein produces coagulation!

[...]

We have always been told that cancers, for example, feed on sugar, right? Of the ultra-processed and so on. However, what we now know is that radiation causes cancer and radiation consumes glucose...

They have deceived us in practically everything...

This is Clexane, which is an anticoagulant.

I think it's a low molecular weight heparin. [Ricardo reads the vial.]

Heparin, yes, Clexane.

If you have a thrombogenicity problem inside, thick blood, they put you on heparin. Or if you have a surgical process, they give you heparin because of the stagnation of blood.

Well, the specific scientific technique to see that this is graphene in Micro-Raman, meaning that if it is exposed to electronic (laser) scattering, it shows the peaks characteristic of graphene oxide...

So with the Micro-Raman technique, each one of you can go with his sample indicating those objects, go through the laser scan and they'll print the sheet where it says "reduced graphene oxide" with the characteristic peaks that we have shown you earlier.

And with that report, you can go directly to file a complaint against the Ministry of Health, or wherever you want, or to the pharmacy.

It has to be done! Not only is our life at stake, but, as I say, the entire species...

To conclude it, I am going to put a video of Dr. Sevillano, based on what we've seen...

Dr. Sevillano's speech on screen.

In short, three years of a pandemic with variants, it's endless variants.

A mobile phone network that rolls out just at the same time as the pandemic begins. Right in the first location where the first cases appear.

Climate change... That threatens to lock us up in 15-minute cities.

The war in which could explode at any moment and create more serious economic, energy, and political problems.

And what you see there under the microscope. It is the nucleus around which all this reality – that has been enveloping us over the past three years – is articulated.

But it is not the end; it is only the means to reach the end.

And the end is also announced to us through social networks and the specialized press.

*It's the 4th revolution, called by them "transhumanism". There is no transhumanism without interface. And what you see under the microscope is an interface.

Presentation and speech of the writer and poet Aaron García Peña.

Excerpts:

... Who has decided that history is a game in which we are always the ones who lose?

One asks this question already looking under the microscope.

Plato, in his book "Republic", tried to understand the different ways of dealing with public issues. "Res Publicae" or public affairs.

He differentiated five, five periods that followed one another in an orderly, uninterrupted way, like a circle that prevents the possibility of there being or existing an immovable government.

I could not but yield to the temptation to incorporate this model formulated by Plato through the observation of the contemporary and previous cultures to his own, 4th century B.C. to the current history of Germany, Argentina and Spain.

And they adjust. They fit and stay wrapped up like an old-fashioned undershirt. Inevitably, it was always of interest to me that this model, designed 2,200 years ago, has ended up being deafeningly predictive.

However, two years ago, it seems that it was now, after listening to José Luis Sevillano, and Ricardo Delgado, looking into the microscope and personally providing myself with the technical capabilities to discover and describe unequivocally its contents, I doubt, all powerfully, now, that this order is natural, and not an artifice.

A written guideline. An applicable protocol. And applied to each one of the cultures throughout the centuries, or whatever has really lasted to day, this we call time.

But then, what sense would the creation and control by who knows what living beings of this successive game, almost unalterable, of the five forms of government have?

It is enough to look attentively at the evolution of what we are living, to keep us at each other's throats in order never to identify the enemy.

And from there come the ideologies, those who have all defended, to the point of taking and losing our lives. And from there comes the ailments of one or another form of government, like a bad paella that we don't let rest and stir again and again for fear that it will take root, that it will anchor, that it will become attached to the earth, learning by itself.

Learning by itself of its most felicitous flavors, being, by the way, the socarrado [charred] what tastes better.

For once you look under the microscope, nothing of what we knew, and how it was explained to us, retains its meaning.

Waking up implies, in essence, realizing this.

The truth depends only on your own perceptions. On your own analysis. And also, of course, on your own judgment – on that individuality that they annihilated to evaporate your self-love.

Gone are the gurus, gone are the leaders, and any other meddling scholar who is at the head of one or another collective with the intention, for wages, to represent us.

Because thanks to these representatives, they have incorporated the single thought.

In fact, we can see that we are facing a tyranny because other ways of interpreting reality are ignored in the media, trade associations, political parties and educational curricula.

The gradual withdrawal of philosophy from the classroom is not a coincidence.

Do they want me to genuflect, to show reverence, submission and abidance to a country that has murdered my neighbors, my writer friends, my architect friends, musicians, butchers, notaries, construction workers?

That has murdered the people I love the most, and what is worse, the ones I could have fallen in love with?

Do they want me to kneel with a bow, with a bow of courtesy, and show admiration before the fools, the servants, the slaves, the docile and cowards, when I can stand up before myself with the dignity that a human being deserves? Being able to live up to my own convictions? That I denigrate myself with silence, when I can wake up with the word?

Do they want me to protect my work, my public image, my home, in exchange for denying the evidence, losing my sanity in the process?

I am my work. I am my public image and I am my home.

They want to destroy us from within. They have been long striving to stop us from loving ourselves. Because only a man who has lost his self-respect can be conquered.

For more than 20 years people have been wishing for something horrible to happen. Because they have been trying hard to make us wish for it.

We were already dejected because they dejected us with their terrorist propaganda, their fears gradually assimilated, like absorbs any skin an apple cream.

They were preparing us, not to kill us. But to allow them to kill us, making us believe that the human being is the problem.

They told us that the state defense and security forces would defend us. That the state would guarantee our human rights.

And they made us uniform in the collective, turning us into information repeaters of the single thought – on that blank sheet of paper they called exams. Identifying the truth with textbooks and the teachers' sermon. And by dedicating yourself professionally to making money, pushing your own passions aside, so that you can only be happy in your leisure time, making society a sum of bitter citizens.

And as all bitter people are bitter, we pass on to our children the same lie, becoming the supportive echo of our enslavers and torturers.

And so, we were all, little by little, weakening – losing our identity to the point of deposit in others the defense of what they want us to be.

And being also, each one of the groups, those who have come to kill us in what we call sociological tyranny, suppressing our right to work, our right to free will, our right to the inviolability of the home, to the inviolability of the body, to humanistic education and to the autonomy and independence of the individual before any totalitarian state.

Executive, legislative, judicial and media. But, all concentrated in a person whom we call the president of government. But in truth, he is a tyrant who has the protection and connivance of the rest of the public representatives. And I say this in case there is still someone who does not know it. Of all the rest, of all the rest.

By the way, in a strangeness that is not at all accidental, because all of them are the same tail coming from the same beast.

Looking under the microscope we understand why we have been indebted for the last 40 years until we became lackeys of our own debt, until we gave up our freedom in exchange for our family remaining under the roof.

Looking under the microscope we understand why we have been alienated from popular wisdom: aphorisms, proverbs, sentences, apothegmas [apothegms], separating us from each other so that no one can continue to serve as a pedagogical reference in the construction of our own knowledge.

Looking under the microscope, we understand why we do not understand the same thing from the same words, through a linguistic engineering that has distanced the signifiers from their meanings, so that we end up simply not understanding each other.

And, of course, looking under the microscope, we understand that national and international geopolitics are a farce...

War is their plan to impoverish us all.

Looking under the microscope, what we once intuited, we now know...

And they seem to like, above all, children. The infants. Those who have no speech and no way, therefore, to defend themselves. Those whom they used to sacrifice because 'God' wanted. Sending them, also, to the front lines of battle...

Looking under the microscope, there have never been wars.
They have been sacrificial rituals.

They made us digest that the truth is the enemy of life.
That ignorance is the shelter of the most intelligent – with the intention of convincing us that freedom is suicide.

But a human being who thinks for himself can never be assassinated even if he is killed.

Moreover, a single minute waking up is worth more than eternal sleep...

Let us wake up, each one in his own way. This is important.
There are no leaders, there are no gurus.

Let us wake up, each one in his own way. In case it would be necessary for us to remember how to live...

Maria. Ricardo. Thank you on behalf of all my descendants...

And we began by asking ourselves who has decided that history is a game in which we are always the ones who lose.

The game is over.

Farewell and closing.

Ricardo Delgado:

..But we still have the capacity to reverse this.

Each one of us is a real time bomb, not precisely for graphene, but for communicating this knowledge to other parts of the world...

We claim from La Quinta Columna, the scientific method which is observation...

Papers and scientific articles are no use to us if not only to confirm, or to corroborate, what we've already seen through the microscope, for example...

What is clear is that they are doing it against all human beings. And what is clear is that we have to reverse the change.

We must not be obedient...

Is the world really in the hands of human beings? Or is there some factor here that we are missing?...

[...]

Any attempt to repress any kind of will, leading us to be emotionless, is precisely what they call transhumanism...

But they do have this objective, and they are going to push forward no matter what...

Here there is a global perspective of the whole operation. Probably, they've been preparing the ground through institutions created in the 1940s, etc.

I'm going to play an introductory video of Humania, that according to the information given here today, as I say, the investigation is much more extensive, but you'll be able to understand what is the ultimate goal of the transhumanist operation, for which it is necessary, as Dr. Sevillano says, this interface.

Humania is a movement that we have created in La Quinta Columna in full defense of the human being...

Transcript of Humania clip:

The human being is in danger. Everything that defines him as a species, such as his intelligence, his sensitivity, to his capacity for willful interaction with the environment, is at serious risk of being lost very soon and forever.

In fact, the process has already started, and only those who designed it together with some of their implementers know it.

La Quinta Columna, made up of free human beings from all over the planet, is on a mission to reveal to the world the premeditated plan that lies behind the events driving us in the near future to the integral loss of our very nature.

This project is the transhumanism, also called the 4th Revolution. Three characteristics define it. It is universal, involuntary and harmful.

It's already being applied to us, to all human beings, without our consent and with serious damage to our health, including death.

To this end, four parallel operations have been set in motion:

- the health crisis,
- the deployment of artificial intelligence with its surface and satellite networks relying on supercomputers,
- the Ukrainian war, with its political and economic consequences,
- and the climate change.

These four operations have as final objective to transhumanize a large part of our species within the shortest period of time.

From La Quinta Columna we wish to bring together all human beings aware of this situation in a movement of consciousness that we will call Humania.

We don't want any other thing than the awareness that we are in danger and, for that, we offer you the evidence.

Everything starts from the optical microscope observation of the contents of the vaccines to be accepted very soon, if not enforced upon the entire population.

What they contain is likely to form a brain machine interface and to be modulated from mobile phone antennas.

We have thus neuroscience developing an interface introduced by deception, through trickery and coercion to all humanity, while implanting a whole planetary network of antennas with the collaboration of all governments in the world.

And on the other hand, a war and a climate change that will reset the economy, politics and our way of life to the point of ultimately subjecting them to the interests of transhumanism.

We don't know who are the ones that are doing this to us. We don't know what they're trying to get by doing it. But they're doing it.

A large part of humanity is collaborating in its own destruction and does not know it.

Humania has arrived for the whole world to know.

We want to stay being humans. We want to live in harmony with our ecosystems and with our fellow human beings.

We want to take advantage of all our scientific technological knowledge to put an end to diseases and misery in the world.

But they will never allow it.

Humania will help us defend what we are and what we want to be.

It is the hour of humanity. Help us let the world know.

---

Ricardo Delgado, in closing:

...I'll not get tired of saying, we do not find enough words to say or narrate what is the degree of evil that is behind this operation towards the entire human race.

[...]

The future is not written. Somehow, we create, and write it ourselves.
