

Could 9/11 Truth Topple the American Empire?

Could 9/11 Truth Topple the American Empire?

July 2013

I've thought about this quite often since hearing the idea on one of Freeman's talks. As these exposes, staged and otherwise keep rolling out, it appears we're being steered toward a major breaking point leading to the dissolution of America as it once was.

What if a 9/11 inquiry were held in the European or World Court in The Hague and the real truth came out and was publicly validated? It's not that far fetched. It would be purely by design of course, as perhaps these latest NSA revelations are scripted to be part of as well; the deliberate downfall of America, its false facade and eventually its infrastructure.

Remember the end game: the establishment of a One World Government. American sovereignty and what it stands for in the world mind stands in the way of this. Wouldn't it be peachy if this new, benign defender of the rights of humanity that arises out of an indignant "World Court" saved the day and brought justice to the American War machine via 9/11 truth, and via the collapse of its image and sovereignty converted into a subordinate fiefdom of the new world state?

I don't put anything past these psychopaths. They kill their own when they need to and would gladly sacrifice Americans and even Israelis in their quest for world dominance. It wouldn't be the first time. They'd then repackage whatever was left in North America as one of their already designed world zones and just relabel the American military apparatus as international peacekeepers, something already well under way with even the infusion of foreign troops on American soil, while converting the government to some international substate.

Not only do you get this legacy of supposed freedom deleted but the world elites behind this would come off looking like the saviors of humanity. World everything would easily follow and the sheep would march into it proudly.

Controlled Demolition is their Game

And is it simply irony that 9/11 was self inflicted via guided aircraft and controlled demolitions, with the implosion of two of America's most proud, sacred symbols as its target? Is that the process of implosion currently at work as part of the lead up? Sure appears that way. And if so, bringing out 9/11 Truth for all the world to finally see and acknowledge would certainly be the final coup de grace.

Just imagine the outrage if exactly what was done and why on 9/11 came into public consciousness, including Israel's thorough involvement along with the fascist Neocon faction. If this NSA scandal with stale surveillance news is causing this kind of fury where countries are reconsidering their financial dealings with America, 9/11 Truth would sound a stunning and ominous death knell as a furious world would recoil in horror and disgust, only to soon turn to rage as the peoples of the world would look for revenge in any way possible.

Bringing this into "approved" public awareness would have to be with their consent; in other words, it would be by design if it happened. Sure, millions worldwide know 9/11 was a complete scam, but look at the NSA scandal to know which "scandals" they allow or don't allow into "approved" public awareness.

And yes, things are that controlled.

Ordo Ab Chao Is Nothing New

We've known the "Powers That Be" are pushing for confusion, collapse, internal and external conflict, and any sort of confrontation amongst the populace their Masonic minds can conceive of. That's their game...keep us busy, divided and distracted so we don't wake up to what's really going on.

But we're waking up, fast and very furious. And again, they know it.

I don't trust the news, I don't even trust seeming whistleblowers anymore until I'm sure. This is a staged, steered, brainwashed and muzzled world, but I don't want to be overly cynical or jaded either. The wake up is real and I'm super impressed with what's happening on the awakening front. I just don't trust any mainstream announcement about anything.

Anything. There's always a catch. And their desired catch is us.

The Tinderbox – Anti-Americanism Is Mounting

Here's a telling little clip from the Financial Times:

Holed up in Moscow airport for the past three weeks, Edward Snowden has only had a limited impact on the political debate about surveillance in the US that he wanted to ignite.

Yet the self-confessed National Security Agency leaker has managed to orchestrate a very different political phenomenon: the biggest bout of anti-Americanism since the Iraq war.

When he first revealed his identity a month ago while in Hong Kong, Mr Snowden used selective disclosures about US global surveillance to rally public opinion in China and Russia. Since then, he has managed to create uproar in Europe with information about the bugging of EU offices and over the past week he has created a new international stir in Latin America.

According to reports this week in the Brazilian newspaper O Globo based on documents provided by the 30-year-old former NSA contractor, the US has been using telecoms infrastructure in Brazil to absorb huge volumes of communications and to spy on governments in the region.

People are sick of wars and all the obvious oppressive economic manipulations crippling their countries, and now to be made aware of massive international surveillance this puts them up against the wall. They're on to it and sick of America's arrogance. Add to it the forcing down of a sovereign President's jet and it takes on even more momentum.

It won't take much to cause a furious backlash even at this stage.

Now imagine if the truth about who carried out the 9-11 false flag operation and the obvious "why" was openly announced? Not only would the U.S. be vilified and abandoned but Israel would be exposed for their massive involvement as well.

Wakey wakey.

I know, if only. Hey, in the real courts of Truth and Universal Conscious Awareness it's already been tried the day this perfidy was conceived – the deserved consequences will come one way or another, whether or not vast swathes of humanity "get it" or not. The point here is that conscious awakening will bring about needed changes a hell of a lot faster and empower humanity to its rightful place with much less suffering as more and more people wake up out of the hypnotic state.

Coming Into Conscious Awareness

We know the media is rigged. Severely. Yet despite their efforts to fully control all information they can't, they never will. But they'll sure try.

The cat's out of the bag with the internet information explosion. People are armed with more truth, or at least have access to more of it, than at any other time in history. That is a huge phenomenon.

The NSA spying on everyone has been in the news for quite some time but never took hold. Now it's taking a front seat, perhaps because some of the media themselves have found out they've been targeted. We don't really know for sure, but it's now out in the open and has gained traction and having a very serious effect. Or at least we're being told it is.

Whether this is another "release valve" or running something up the flagpole to judge for reactions, or a genuine leak, we don't really know for sure, but the effects we're seeing are nonetheless there. Whole governments, not just targeted individuals, are threatening to take action. It's a completely different dynamic. Whether it was engineered or "allowed" we don't know, but I always lean toward the sceptical side due to all I've learned over the years.

The fact is, there's a level of mass conscious awareness that has a dynamic all its own, especially when that consciousness is more awake and aware and old paradigms are crumbling into dust. That changes people's whole perspective and whole new realms open up to them.

And 9/11 Truth is one of the most powerful catalysts there ever was.

Ripe for A Mega False Flag

Unfortunately, this now is the very climate the Manipulators tend to pull their bigger operations, when a distraction from issues at hand and an emotionally charged justification for the next round of draconian clampdowns is needed and most effective.

This is discussed often but is an ever present reality in this dark age we live in.

If an American city were micro-nuked, few people will even consider their own government did it and their heads will be easily turned toward the terrorists du jour, As we've watched evolve the past decade, terrorists can be anyone in this engineering fascist Orwellian milieu they've created where even federal government workers are encouraged to report on each other...as well as themselves!

Thought policing taking it's roots. Lovely place to live.

Stay on Your Toes

This goes without saying for most of you but it can't be stressed enough. These are perilous times. Whether they take the Mideast war to new levels in their quest for Iran and global hegemony, pull the plug on the economy, or execute one or more escalated false flags, the effects next time around could very well make 9/11 seem like an afterthought, even though it's what got us this far.

The best preparation is spiritual, to have your life in line with consciousness which gives right perspective. Chaos affects the unprepared very severely, while those who have stayed on top of these events and the trends we're witnessing will have a huge advantage.

The dynamics of what is transpiring before us are important to grasp. The Orwellian model, where everything is reversed and the State is your ever present minder, is important to employ in our understanding of what's going on around us. Nothing we're told should be taken at face value. Lying is their modus operandi. It's a virus to the mind and spirit if not spotted.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom" was never so true.

Keep on exposing the cabal, keep on helping others, keep on getting free from their clutches.

As the darkness descends we'll be seeing millions of candles already lighting up the landscape.

Pretty damn cool.

Stay lit.
