

COVID: The Virus That Isn't There: The Root Fraud Exposed

COVID: The Virus That Isn't There: The Root Fraud Exposed

by Jon Rappoport, No More Fake News

October 9, 2020

This is a follow-up to yesterday's article, in which I exposed the fact that the CDC does not have the COVID coronavirus in its possession, because it is "unavailable." Their word, not mine.

The CDC is admitting the virus hasn't been isolated. In other words, its existence is unproven.

You need to realize the CDC, during its own published confession (see below), is discussing this explosive situation in the context of instructing the world how to perform the PCR test.

The test to detect a virus that isn't there.

This would be on the order of NASA issuing a guide for navigating a fleet of ships to a planet whose existence has not been established—and the population of the whole world is going to board those ships for the voyage.

The CDC is saying: here is how you detect the virus in a human, here is the test on which we're going to rely, here is the test on the basis of which we're going to identify all case numbers and demand all lockdowns—except we don't have the virus.

Why don't they have it?

Because they can't isolate it. That's obvious.

If they could isolate it, they would.

Let's not tap dance around this central fact. Let's not make excuses for the CDC. They have a problem the size of Jupiter. It's their problem, not ours. But they're foisting their problem on us, in the form of a STORY ABOUT A PANDEMIC. AND ALL THE LOCKDOWNS THAT FLOW FROM THE STORY.

To say this is unacceptable is a vast understatement. The CDC is committing a crime that has no bounds.

For months, I've been writing about the "missing virus" and the studies that should be done to prove it exists—real-world studies that have never been done and will never be done. Now, here is the smoking gun.

I'm aware that many scientists and doctors, who are otherwise exposing the pandemic as a fraud on legitimate grounds, don't want to touch what I'm revealing here. I would remind them that, months ago, when some of us were already exposing the PCR test as unreliable and useless and deceptive, THAT ISSUE was too hot to touch. But now it isn't.

The issue of the existence of the SARS-CoV-2 virus may seem as if it's too hot, but it isn't. It's time to launch a full-on attack. Immediately.

The truth is only bitter for those who are hiding it.

I'm also aware there are people who have been building scenarios about how the virus is "activated." Certain frequencies wake it up, and so on. Well, the question is: WHAT VIRUS? THE ONE THAT ISN'T THERE?

Still other people would say, "Then what are all these scientists sequencing in their labs, if it's not the virus?" Again, not our problem. They might start with a piece of RNA, and then claim, without proof, it's part of SARS-CoV-2; and they go to work on it. They claim anything they want to. It's not science.

If a mechanic says he has a piece of a fender from a car that has never been seen before; if he claims he knows the car exists; but he can't show you the car; are you going to buy his story? Are you going to invest your life-savings and life-savings of your family and friends in this car he admits is "unavailable?" Are you going to invest and go broke and sit in your home and wear a mask and keep your distance from other people and close your business and declare bankruptcy? Are you going to consent to that?

Another question that arises: if the virus is missing and has never been isolated, has never been proved to exist, what are they putting in the COVID vaccine? That's a question that should be answered by law-enforcement agencies raiding many facilities and seizing materials and finding honest scientists who will discover what is really in the COVID vaccine brews. Waiting for that to happen...the sun could go dark first. In the meantime, do you want to take the shot in the arm?

Some people have claimed there are "animal models" which prove the coronavirus exists and is harmful, because the animals become sick, when they are "injected with the virus." This is incorrect on two counts.

First, the animal models are supposed to progress through various species, until they arrive at animals that most closely resemble humans; chimps. The animal models being cited are mice or hamsters, which are very, very low on the totem pole.

Second, what are these mice being injected with? It's supposed to be pure virus. But instead, it's a soup which contains all sorts of material, including chemicals. The chemicals could be causing the animals to become ill.

Here is my breaking story about the virus that isn't there, from yesterday:

The Smoking Gun: Where is the coronavirus? The CDC says it isn't available.

The CDC document is titled, “CDC 2019-Novel Coronavirus \(2019-nCoV\) Real-Time RT-PCR Diagnostic Panel.” It is dated July 13, 2020.

Buried deep in the document, on page 39, in a section titled, “Performance Characteristics,” we have this: “Since no quantified virus isolates of the 2019-nCoV are currently available, assays [diagnostic tests] designed for detection of the 2019-nCoV RNA were tested with characterized stocks of in vitro transcribed full length RNA...”

The key phrase there is: “Since no quantified virus isolates of the 2019-nCoV are currently available...”

Every object that exists can be quantified, which is to say, measured. The use of the term “quantified” in that phrase means: the CDC has no measurable amount of the virus, because it is unavailable. THE CDC HAS NO VIRUS.

A further tip-off is the use of the word ‘isolates.’ This means NO ISOLATED VIRUS IS AVAILABLE.

Another way to put it: NO ONE HAS AN ISOLATED SPECIMEN OF THE COVID-19 VIRUS.

NO ONE HAS ISOLATED THE COVID-19 VIRUS.

THEREFORE, NO ONE HAS PROVED THAT IT EXISTS.

As if this were not enough of a revelation to shock the world, the CDC goes on to say they are presenting a diagnostic PCR test to detect the virus-that-hasn't-been-isolated...and the test is looking for RNA which is PRESUMED to come from the virus that hasn't been proved to exist.

And using this test, the CDC and every other public health agency in the world are counting COVID cases and deaths...and governments have instituted lockdowns and economic devastation using those case and death numbers as justification.

If people believe "you have the virus but it is not available," and you have the virus except it is buried within other material and hasn't been extracted and purified and isolated, these people believe the moon is made of green cheese.

This is like saying. "We have the 20 trillion dollars, they are contained somewhere in our myriad accounts, we just don't know where." If you don't know where, you don't know you have the money.

"The car keys are somewhere in the house. We just don't where." Really? If you don't know where, you don't know the keys are in the house.

"The missing cruise missile is somewhere in the arsenal, we just don't where." No. If you don't know where, you don't know the missile is in the arsenal.

"The COVID-19 virus is somewhere in the material we have—we just haven't removed it from that material. But we know what it is and we've identified it and we know its structure." NO YOU DON'T. YOU ASSUME THAT.

Science is not assumptions.

"But...but...there is a study which says a few researchers in a lab isolated the virus..."

They say they did. But in July, the CDC is saying no virus is available. I guess that means trucks were not available to bring the virus from that lab to the CDC. The trucks were out of gas. It was raining. The bridge was washed out. The trucks were in the shop. Joe, the driver, couldn't find his mask, and he didn't want to leave home without it...

Science is not assumptions.

The pandemic is a fraud, down to the root of the poisonous tree.