“You do not eliminate the low ground by fighting with it. You eliminate the low ground by ceasing to cooperate with it. By building something better and refusing to cooperate with anything else.

Because the most powerful word in the English language or any other language is, and has always been – it is the word that has ended every tyranny in history, and ultimately it will end this one – and that word, of course, is “No! No! No!”.”

###

“We need to understand where the real power is. And it’s not with satanic forces that operate out of places like The City of London. Our perception that they have power is a misunderstanding of where the power is...

How can eight billion people be controlled by a handful unless those eight billion – or most of them – give their power to the handful? This has to end! And when it ends, this tyranny will end.”

###

“What it takes is just that stiffened backbone, that courage to stand up to what is a house of cards – if only we would stop holding it together.”

###

“This is the time for humanity to take responsibility for its world. To stop pointing the finger and saying ‘it’s them’.

No. It’s us. It’s always been us. It’s always been us throughout known human history who have handed our power to the few. Which is why, throughout human history, the few have always controlled the many.”
