Note from TCTL editor:

Dr. Andrew Kaufman, as guest host on the Alex Jones show, interviews Karen Kingston.

Karen, who recently came forward as a whistleblower, currently works as an analyst for pharmaceutical and medical device industries – analyzing intellectual property and legal landscape for both pharma and consumers – and is also a science writer and clinical analyst.

Together Dr. Kaufman and Karen Kingston break down the ingredients in the so-called vaccines and take a look at the science documents detailing the intended functions of these toxic injections.
