Snippet:

“I thought to myself of the libertarian that I heard give a talk on the 10 reasons you’d rather be controlled by the mob than run by the federal government...

I started thinking about how warfare had evolved in my lifetime...

And the next step is how how could you sway geopolitical power without even an identifiable army? In fact, without even identifiable war.

Well, I can think that you’re going to need chemists and/or doctors...”
