

Faceless Beings

Faceless Beings

by Avadesh Yadav, OffGuardian

August 28, 2020

*Faceless beings with muffled voices stare at me through dark sunken sockets
full of fear and fright.*

*Muzzled and mugged,
choked and tugged;
I see them
here
there
and everywhere!
From dawn to dusk,
from dusk to dawn;
on the streets, in the trains,
on the beach and in the parks!*

*I know not
who they are!
Friends or foes?
Neighbours or strangers?
Ghosts or living dead?
These faceless beings!*

*Yet not all is lost!
One single uneffaced face
fills me with boundless joy!
One single smile on a bare face
makes my day!*

*One singe unmuffled “hello”
is a ray of hope!*

Avadesh Yadav

Spain

August 2020

image source OffGuardian