

Farmer Rebellion: Locals in Dutch City of Drachten Fear Food Insecurity Caused by Government Nitrogen Targets

Farmer Rebellion: Locals in Dutch City of Drachten Fear Food Insecurity Caused by Government Nitrogen Targets

Rebel News journalists, Lewis Brackpool and Lincoln Jay, along with Post Millennial's Katie Daviscourt spent much of the day reporting in and around the city of Drachten Holland, near the German border.

by Rebel News

July 9, 2022

We are approaching the A7 where we were tipped off that the Holland/German border has been gridlocked by the Farmers.

MORE: <https://t.co/AgMVWCWret> pic.twitter.com/f7ueeUYuIn

– Lewis Brackpool (@Lewis_Brackpool) July 8, 2022

We have located another group of farmers and their supporters who have gathered near the Netherland/German border, we are awaiting their arrival and their supporters are starting to show up.

MORE: <https://t.co/AgMVWCWret> pic.twitter.com/MBXVCgj3sQ

– Lewis Brackpool (@Lewis_Brackpool) July 9, 2022

Dutch farmers are protesting across the country against nitrogen emission targets being imposed by the government that could force farmers off their land, limit production and prompt farmers to cull livestock to curb emissions and fertilizer use.

Mark Rutte is an agenda contributor at the World Economic Forum and is enacting policies that reflect the WEF's ideology. <https://t.co/oLceSZdqBA>

– K2 (@kiansimone44) July 7, 2022

The team followed a convoy of farmers through the otherwise sleepy community where Brackpool and Jay were able to ask local residents for their thoughts about the potential forfeiture of agricultural land and what that means for the food supply of the Netherlands and the rest of Western Europe.

To watch the full report straight from the Netherlands, watch the video above!

To view other reports just like this one, where you will see the true story of the resistance to Dutch PM Mark Rutte's devastating green schemes, please visit www.FarmerRebellion.com. The Rebel News team is proudly independent and viewer supported. To offset the cost of their on-the-scene journalism in Holland, make a donation at www.FarmerRebellion.com

See also:

https://www.rebelnews.com/farmer_rebellion_dutch_fishermen_and

_boat_owners_in_uk_show_support_for_dutch_farmers_protesting_green_attacks_on_agriculture

Connect with Rebel News