In the Downpour of the Rain

In the Downpour of the Rain

by Zen Gardner

I see it in the faces
I feel it in the earth
The yearning ever deeper
Like the pains before a birth

The living sense, the sadness
Their eyes are filled with tears
As our lonely, longing people
Are fending off their fears

The heart of man grows tender Caring more for those in pain We're covering our loved ones In the downpour of the rain

The night is soon approaching But it must, as will the day Be brave and always steadfast Love will wipe the tears away

Learning, ever learning
Seeing consciousness arise
While ever dissipating
Is the veil of woven lies

We cannot come to fathom

Or think to just arrive

This life is for the living

Yet we onward choose to strive

For answers to our questions

The thirst cannot be slaked Our hunger knows no bound'ries We're born to be awake'd

It seems we're in a process Conscious evolution's own To realize just who we are And my, the way we've grown

Zen Gardner is an impactful and controversial author and speaker with a piercing philosophical viewpoint. His writings have been circulated to millions and his personal story has caused no small stir amongst the entrenched alternative pundits. His book You Are the Awakening has met rave reviews and is available on amazon.com. You Are the Awakening examines the dynamics of the awakening to a more conscious awareness of who we are and why we are here — dynamics which are much different from the programmed approach of this world we were born into.