

Let's Talk About Racism, Shall We?

Let's Talk About Racism, Shall We?

by Gary D. Barnett

August 27, 2020

“Like an unchecked cancer, hate corrodes the personality and eats away its vital unity. Hate destroys a man's sense of values and his objectivity. It causes him to describe the beautiful as ugly and the ugly as beautiful, and to confuse the true with the false and the false with the true.”

~ Martin Luther King, Jr. (1963). “Strength to Love”

There is screaming, gnashing of teeth, rudeness, ugliness, violence, destruction, and hatred as far as the eye can see. And it is all in the name of ‘justice?’ I think not. We live in a world of bastardized language and slogans. Now the term “social justice” is being slung around like so much hash on the grill. It is insane. It seems much of the population is in the midst of constant virtue signaling, and this fake moral superiority complex is absolutely insincere and sickening.

The insincerity and absolute stupidity of these people belies logic, and those that accept and allow this nonsense can be more harmful simply due to their passive behavior and silence. This idiocy seems to have now consumed every sport, as Black Lives Matter (BLM) posters, signs, banners, and clothing abound, and fake solidarity for a cause that does not exist continues to swell out of control. Entire sports teams take the day off as a faux stance for social justice. While allegedly stumping for 'justice,' others in the Marxist, fascist, and racist BLM and Antifa movements beat down innocents that are either the wrong color or won't submit to crowd pressure. They participate in and support criminal violence, property destruction, hatred, assault, and murder while claiming to protect victims. This is psychopathic behavior, and those that participate or support this behavior are the real racists. Sure, black lives matter, but no more than any other life. Just identifying color as any reasoning for violence is itself an extreme form of racism.

And of course there are the insane and unimaginable contradictions portrayed by white people. The most absurd are white people calling for the killing of all white people in the name of "black lives matter." How does this work? Why have they not been killed or killed themselves? If a white person actually thought that being white should be a death sentence, would they not have to commit suicide in order to prove that they felt solidarity with the cause? What about white football, basketball, or baseball players bowing down to their black teammates while sporting BLM shirts? Should they not wear white lives matter shirts? Should everyone wear a shirt that describes the color of their skin, or is that a privilege only reserved for black people? What about brown people, yellow people, tan people, and red people? Do they get a shirt? Maybe those "woke" frauds in sports, like LeBron James, should wear a shirt with his multi-million dollar salary on it. Of course, most would then quickly think twice about supporting his victimhood, as it is difficult to feel sorry for someone bouncing a ball for $38,000,000 per year, and driving three Ferraris, a Rolls Royce, a Maybach 57, a Lamborghini, a Bentley, and many others. He must really feel terrible about his plight of being black.

Real racism certainly does exist, but mostly, it is all these groups claiming that everyone is racist that are the real racists among us. The police standing down while this low life scum are destroying entire cities and terrorizing the residents are practicing extreme racism. All the politicians lauding these looters they call protesters are practicing racism. Any black people that think only black lives matter are racists. White posers hiding under their hoods calling themselves Antifa are racists.

All this division was structured and planned, and now it seems to be all against all. So long as that hate continues, the top tier controllers will be able to drive the economy into the ground, while taking total control over the divided masses. That is what is really going on, but most are now too ignorant, indifferent, or worthless to see it.

Copyright © 2020 GaryDBarnett.com