“...We are reactivating those genetic parts of our DNA to rise into high levels of consciousness. a deeper understanding of who we are, and creating a feedback mechanism. The more questions we ask, the more of the DNA is switched on and it starts to resonate with a deeper sense of truth. And to remember that we are infinite beings of flesh and blood and infinite soul, and this is just an interesting part of this journey.”

Michael Tellinger, on the ancient vanished civilisations of Southern Africa, the mysterious origins of humankind, resonance, cymatics, and the power of sound. His research includes a diverse field of subjects such as archaeology, mythology, human origins, religion, origins of money, spirituality, breakthrough science and consciousness. We are a species with amnesia, undergoing a rapid awakening from a long deep state of unconsciousness, to rediscover our significance as humanity and our critical place in all of creation. My discoveries of the vanished civilisations of Southern Africa have provided some critical missing pieces of the GREAT HUMAN PUZZLE.

Michael Tellinger shares the UBUNTU Movement's motivational and inspiring plan of action to convert our small towns into places of abundance and prosperity for all and to liberate all of humanity from the economic slavery imposed on us by the banking elite. This video includes the inspiring intro and simple the plan of action that can achieve this without any opposition, resistance or violence – by using the tools that enslave us as tools of liberation. But we need to find one small town where the people, the mayor and the council agree to do this. If you know a small town that is ready for such a
