

This post has no title, but it still must link to the single post view somehow.

This is typically done by placing the permalink on the post date.