Mandatory vaccinations are now a reality in the United States and if you refuse to take the shot they warn it'll cost you! New York City has issued civil summonses to 12 people it said were not complying with a mandatory measles vaccination order and they must now attend a hearing and face a fine of up to $1,000 if found to be noncompliant. In this video Dan Dicks and Leigh Stuart of Press For Truth cover the latest updates on the mandatory vaccine order issued to a small neighbourhood in Brooklyn NYC targeting children in Orthodox Jewish communities who may or may not have immunity against the measles.
