Welcome to 2021, the theatrical performance for which 2020 was merely a dress rehearsal. If you haven't been deplatformed yet, don't worry, you will be. That is, unless we can get our shit together as a species and work together to pry the boot off our faces. The sooner we do that, the better.

Spiro was recently booted off Twitter for wrongthink. There's a lot of that going around these days, no matter how meticulously-researched one's content is. We are an information war – don't bring a plastic fork to a drone strike.

'Like,' share, & subscribe if you got something out of this content, because it probably won't be around much longer. Download this (& the other videos on both of our channels) & repost it to your own channel or platform.
