You might be noticing the old notions of the world around us are slipping away. Just as the new milky, metallic skies are now integrated into society and taken for granted as the norm, many other physical and societal aspects of our world have been devolved by the social engineers and adopted by the mass psyche.

And it leaves the uninformed empty, confused, dazed and finally numb and complacent.

Ah, peace at last. Just stop struggling, future droids.

Meet the new world peace. An engineered environment of exhausted spirits who finally give in to the bombardment of reversed truths, cognitive dissonance, denials, omitted information and state propaganda.

And a techno-hell of manipulated weaponized information driven into a seduced mind.

The Creeping Paralysis of Complacency

“Why struggle? It’s no use.” says the failing human spirit. “I’m not seeing what I think I’m seeing. The skies have always been like this, or there’s some good reason. If it was important to know it would be on the news. Endless wars are good and keep us safe. So does constant surveillance and the loss of privacy. And the wealthy must deserve more because they always seem to stay on top and get more.” etc.

So help me, government.

And so the militarized police triumphantly occupy American streets. After all, we’re under attack.

By them. But who’s looking. Once again, Orwell gets outdone.

Boldly Stated Complete Fallacies

“The war on terror!”, now conveniently hitting the “homeland” screams from every system megaphone and implanted neural response. Nothing but baseline stimulus/response manipulation. As it is with the money scam, the media, our education paradigm, you name it.

Mr. Scam Man is bringing you a dream.

Trouble is so few identify it for what it is. They fight inside the prescribed parameters amongst themselves, but never step outside to see the mind-altering Truth that the whole show is staged by nefarious manipulators. Way too humbling. Negates everything they thought and ever did as obsolete.

When you face the facts you come up with new, empowering realities. There ARE these nefarious forces trying to control everything and there ARE multitudes of mind-numbed, indoctrinated drones now in existence that are set to fulfill the wishes of such a wicked source. The problem is getting compounded now with these stepped up internal false flags. Americans are becoming seriously freaked out to where they’re getting to be like paranoid schizophrenics imagining bugs crawling under their skin.

And they call us crazy.

What Else Are We Duped About? “Let Me Count the Ways...”

–The war on terror is an elaborate hoax, as are all wars.

-The medical industry is owned and run by money making mongrels who don't care about you, never mind your health.

-Politics is a show, a distraction, a farce. You have no voice. It's pretend participation and a controlled venting device.

-Food isn't food. It's altered, and the cancers, obesity, diabetes, gene altering and other afflictions are all deliberate.

-Nuclear and electronic radiation, oil spills, ecological disasters and even weather incidents are readily induced. Humanity is being subdued and reduced.

-Etc. The list is as long as you have time to research. They've screwed with anything they can think of from music to mind control, science to history, fashion to sports and amusements.

The whole thing's a scam.

Our current social milieu dictates a very strange, shallow reality: "How do I appear? Do I fit in? I need more money for more stuff. I need comfort and security."

It's that far gone. People's needs are defined by the media and social networking norms. And these are being redefined by the day. Shifting colors, talking heads, motifs, seeming social standards, all are subjectively set by virtually whomever is controlling the TV set.

Enjoying it? Cuz it's determining your future!

Or not...if you bust out.

Epilogue

Don't fall for it. Watch out for the assumptive speech, where subjective descriptions and ready made conclusions are passed on as fact. It's doublespeak disguised as objective information. Get free to where you can easily spot it. Don't be had. Stay awake and alert, and advise your loved ones to do the same by pointing these tricks out.

There is always hope for the living, even if they haven't had the awakening yet. What's coming at us is gonna drive millions off of their comatose cots and when they hit the floor the wake up will be rude. But it's still a wake up.

The best advice we can give anyone is to snap out of it and get themselves to consciousness, in whatever language suits the situation.

It's all easy from there.

Much love, Zen
