In the middle of the 19th century, starting in Germany, a misleading and dangerous worldview was imposed on all of humanity – by means of fraud. It was disguised as science. The function: to rule by creating fear, after the nobility and churches, which previously carried out this task, were disempowered by money. Life no longer has any meaning or value, since everything came about by chance. Deriving from the erroneous atomic theory, it was claimed that cells existed as the smallest indivisible units of life.

All illnesses are caused by pathogenic substances in the cells. The body can no longer be trusted, as pathogenic substances such as metastases and viruses constantly pose a fatal threat to people from the outside and inside. Only state medicine and its measures can save people. The cell theory, which has never been scientifically proven and has only ever been refuted, forces those involved to believe in genetic material as a book of life, because since the introduction of the atomic theory in “science” there has been no spirit, no consciousness and no information field to produce life from the all-connecting substance, the ether, Akasha in Indian, rediscovered as the primordial substance of life by Dr. Augustin.

By the year 2000, all geneticists knew that all their ideas had been refuted by their own findings, partly because the so-called genetic material DNA is constantly changing in every nucleus . So the claim of a functioning mRNA is just as much scientific fraud as the claim of pathogenic viruses or metastases. Until the second largest mass murder after AIDS , Corona , no one claimed that mRNA could work . Suddenly, with the invention of SARS-Cov2 in the PC, a compulsive logic became a billion-dollar product, the danger of which, however, does not result from the harmless mRNA, but from the dangerous nanoparticles it contains and the psychosomatics when people are thrown into a terrorist panic.

After Ernst Wolff revealed that when President Trump left the WHO in 2020, he transferred the funds to the GAVI vaccination alliance, which was founded in 2001 at the WEF and financed by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation , here is a collage of Trump's statements on vaccinations and here is the bombshell. Trump is investing $500 billion in mRNA vaccinations against cancer ! In the upcoming part 2, we will explain why mRNA vaccinations are helpful in voodoo cancer diagnoses for completely different reasons and in addition to the nanoparticle effects. And in the coming episodes, we will explain that we have all, in many aspects, been in this mechanistic thought trap since 1858, which, when we leave it together, rewards us with a sustaining and wonderful feeling of cosmic involvement and connection with things and beings.
