

The Mimic of the Lost Intelligent Design

The mindset of the assumed “elite” who are behind the scenes masterminding our current matrix is bastardized truths derived from long lost natural, clear and obvious understandings that once dominated and ruled our planet and its civilizations long, long ago.

We are currently in the dark ages of human thinking and evolution. And that to a massive degree. Societal patterns and standards, including rituals, sigils and commonly held belief systems are merely dark manipulative shadows of once thriving day to day realities and long since passed advanced intelligent culture. It was on the surface much like ours, yet fully intelligent, awake and loving, while completely down to earth. No hocus-pocus or manipulation was intended or needed; their connection to real intelligence and simple conscious spirituality was profound and fully well intentioned.

Imagine a simple, non intrusive organizational structure by a semi-remote yet present benign, lovingly motivated group of kind and conscious beings. All of it co-created by them with the understanding the same was true of the rest of humanity, and maintained via passed down guidelines and empowering knowledge designed to help individuals and communities thrive, and happily accomplish their designed mission. Happily and fully conscious.

Now visualize go-betweens, representatives who took messages from the enlightened ones who were behind the central wisdom hub, loving and sincere and caring individuals yet loyal to the core enlightened intelligence. Not gods, but loving and caring enlightened representatives who once mingled but periodically retreated to a place of conservancy to protect and preserve the inner knowledge.

It was a very down to earth lifestyle way back then, but profoundly interesting. Today these simple mechanisms for things as simple as getting water or simple, practical architectural structures were eventually hijacked. They eventually became occult forms and symbols of power and worship, later generations not even knowing they stood for the simplest of things while the hijackers know full well they were archetypes playing on our minds.

So Very Easy to Hijack

Over very, very long periods of time, as civilizations drifted further from the simplest original way of life, these precepts were twisted and perverted. Time and the temptation to counterfeit, just as any structure goes through as beings drift from the truth into controlling religious organizations, governing bodies, etc., perverted the original template. In fact, we are currently stone age compared to this simple, connected and benevolent form of intelligent organization our planet once experienced.

This is what we are remembering.

The intelligence was so natural and nothing at all “super natural”, it has only been made to appear that way since so much is no longer part of common knowledge. No doubt the spiritual was interwoven in such a way as to make it part of basic, natural life, while in today’s dysfunctional world under control by the current dark dictatorship of lies, these ideas have been fractured into separate parts of life. This dichotomy is one of the basic tenets of control, as manifested in the many black or white memes our current understanding is herded into. The freemasons are famous for using this separation, but ultimately anything anti-conscious does the same, causing separation at every possible level.

How We Get Back – Remembering and Clearing the Fog

Unfortunately in our current way of life there is this passed on active and passive aggressive structure, mimicking these very early societies. The problem is the influence and power is in the wrong hands. But the reason we are yoked with it is that this older system of civilization is deeply imprinted in our very nature, to follow these ancient ways, and they're playing on this embedded memory in our collective subconscious which is why humanity resonates with much of the current program.

Therefore what we are witnessing is ultimately a very clever imitation of a wonderful previous reality, but is really just an entropic progression used against a degraded race of hijacked beings following orders from a hijacking race, using compliant humans as tools to execute it.

It's easy to see how such a basic and fundamental structure could be perverted, especially over long epochs of time. Once the structure or control was weakened, parasitic mimicking fraudulent "ancestors" would wrest this imprint away from benign and benevolent leadership into abusive, self serving means. Power corrupts the weak and self serving inclined, especially when such forces see how easy it is to enact upon a trusting, already entrained population.

This era's corrupt Illuminati are famously mental and intellectual and consider themselves the awake ones, and it's easy to see why. Not only are they ruthless in their intent, they've been emboldened by usurping these powerful ancient paradigms of which they are aware, and they know what they're doing. Hence the strong symbolism and references to this ancient past in their occult symbology and secret society nomenclature. All based on the sequestered truth about the power of the original, natural and humane pattern.

Interesting? A type of garden of eden in our way distant past that's been hijacked. As Jung would say, a very powerful archetype or set of archetypes, and something to play upon, says the invader.

But we're waking up from our long slumber.

Behind the Scenes and Go-betweens

These emissaries – appointed, trusted representatives who were sent to be among the people while the core team kept the purity of the basic intelligent lifestyle – were integral to the lifeblood of the civilization. It appears in history even the inner core was walking amongst humanity at one point but eventually took a back seat, and eventually passed away, and those who knew them and were among them took their place. Yet this same benign somewhat hierarchical structure remained, but it also morphed over time and was corrupted and lost track of the original purpose.

This is how power overruled love and common sense. Fear of losing control, which is passed on into laws, regulations, containment devices etc. is now clearly evident. We all know in our hearts this doesn't have to be the case. This is past epochs and consciousness speaking to us.

Those on the inside really do think they know best, and in the case of the ancient benign control structure they did. It's how it was in the beginning and is something innate to natural law, similar to how a crystal grows or plants and animals develop from a true source and designed pattern. This is why we see this imprinted over and over, not just in nature, but in man's organizations, companies and eventually government, howbeit perverted. It's been a form of natural law for eons I suspect, but it's degraded and lost track of its true roots. Losing touch with the original inspiration and plan it now remains an empty shell, the controllers themselves also mindlessly worshipping these ancient symbols from a once very simple open and intelligent way of life.

Oh the irony.

The core was meant to maintain the purity and message and simplicity of intelligence. Instead it morphed over time and became a power base for future usurpers. It's no wonder then that they think they know better, when in their world view and usurpation of this organizational foundation they seemingly do. They are not religious, they only pretend to be. They know that's a bunch of hooey, although they are ritualistic, but it works on a superstitious and now easily bamboozled populace. All based on ignorance and someone "smarter" pulling the ropes and levers.

Letting true intelligence rule our lives we can have that individual realignment with the natural as well as the "super" natural on our own. We don't need anyone to tell us what to do, but we do need to clear away the cobwebs and false training and reactive living to see it. Otherwise we remain in that darkened state.

And at this point it's become almost a state of emergency to do so. When you catch on that urgency will hit you big time.

Conclusion – Taking It Back

Obviously we don't want to fall into any of their traps of control and manipulation, seeing clearly it is not for humanity's benefit but rather to maintain it's lower level status, at least at this dark point in history. One of the biggest traps is anger, which is akin to fear, and a very low level response that only plays into this imposed condition. If we are to walk and talk as enlightened, intelligent humans it means a life change and disengaging from the many mechanisms at play, which appear to be at one of the lowest levels in our human evolution.

Sadly, even from the sparse records still available, it appears great clashes in civilization eventually arise, often at a huge cost to the current inhabitants.

Unfortunately we are way down the road at this point. While there is an unprecedented awakening taking place, perhaps laying the groundwork for a world to come arising within each of us, these usurpers have succeeded in amassing huge arsenals of destruction born out of their perverted cravings for power and control. These are playing out before our eyes in all that we are currently witnessing on the world stage. Many of us are tracking this slow motion train wreck in the making which contributes greatly to the awakening of humanity's innate true intelligence, but stopping or derailling this train they have forced humanity on to is not going to be an easy task, and some sort of culmination or cataclysm may just have to take place as they self destruct.

We have seen it in many recent civilizations, but our real clues come from antiquity such as the Vedas where great clashes apparently took place in the heavens as vying powers had it out for control. Even further back we hear that this was the fate of Atlantis and Lumeria who destroyed each other at the pinnacle of so-called advanced civilization.

Who knows how many times this has been played out on our planet, never mind the millions of others in our galaxies or the billions if not infinite number of such massive star and planet clusters in the entire universe? One can only imagine they haven't all had this type of parasitic invasion such as earth experiences. Perhaps earth really is a particularly valuable blue gem compared to other worlds available for habitation. It's thought we co-habit this planet with many other races, which we call "alien" when those races in fact call us the aliens, or "engineered species" created by advanced civilizations that arrived here long, long ago.

We don't know for sure, but we are finding our identity and innate connectivity to everything. If artificial intelligence can be produced, how much more can we "revive" our own wonderful intelligence and so magnificently transcend and overcome these deviant, however powerful, warring entities!

That's a happy thought, and one I think is very real.

How else could we even conceive this? That's something in itself to wonder about.

Be empowered – and remember who you are. It's coming back to us all.

Much love, Zen
