

To Those Who Are Masking Themselves, Holding Their Breath, Cooperating With Practices That Damage the Brains of Children, Harm Themselves and Break Down Society

To Those Who Are Masking Themselves, Holding Their Breath, Cooperating With Practices That Damage the Brains of Children, Harm Themselves and Break Down Society

Brief Excerpts:

And when you wear masks just to be nice, just to go along like the woman in the video, you're training everybody, you're training the next generation. And, therefore, the controllers, the ones that know all of these experiments and understand human nature because it's been there whole job for 70, 80, a hundred years to study human nature, they will count on you to train the next generation. There won't even have to be a law or a rule. It's just what people do. We just wear masks for some reason. We don't get to see each others faces. We don't get to breathe healthy air. We stew in our own juices. We compromise our immune system. You see whay they're not bringing in actual laws about this. They don't need to. You will train the next generation.

And you might be saying to yourself “Well, no, no, listen. There is a bad virus and people have a right to be safe from it.” You might be thinking that way in a collectivized, hive mind, mind set. You think to yourself, “Well, you know, I don’t know. I don’t know what to believe, so better safe than sorry. Plus it’s really just no big deal to me. I’ll just slap on this mask when I run into the store. That way I don’t have to argue with anyone. That way the people who really are scared aren’t scared of me.” ... This is what you’re saying to yourself. I know. But what about the people who aren’t scared, the people who know the facts? Don’t we get any shake in this society anymore? Are we going to just change everything we do to please people who are of X, Y, Z? What’s next? What is next? What else will you do for people who are afraid? They’ve already conditioned us for this – through myriad of means...

###

Somehow, we flipped everything on its head... We can’t make all of society change their habits for your weakness. Otherwise, we have to do that for everyone.

If you want a future for yourself or your children, stop wearing the masks.

I go over the experiments they have run on us vis a vis social conformity and I try to show that even science has been corrupted by the force of “group consensus.”

You have to stand on your own two feet and not cave to the pressure of what everyone else is doing. It’s too important.
