

Two Top Secret Missions Disguised As Historic Moments You Thought Were Real

Source: Truthstream Media

Published on May 12, 2017

Ready for the real story? Everything from scientific research and oil and gas drilling can and have been used as a cover for clandestine exploration of the deep sea and underground environments.

The Titanic and the Glomar Explorer are two such examples, remarkable because of the high profile press celebration of the achievements operating as cover for a larger secret. So what really goes on?