The Reality of Geoengineering

The increasing existence of the persistent geoengineering trails we regularly see in the sky behind high-flying jets has rapidly become commonplace knowledge. Ironically, these trails were first called “chemtrails” in US military program literature, but this term was soon demonized as “conspiratorial” by these very same powers and their cohorts in order to squelch information getting to the mainstream public.

So what are they spraying, and why?

These are very serious questions, and apparently the answers would not meet with public approval. A litany of literature, scientific studies and patents regarding such aerosol programs are readily available on the internet. By far the most dominant cover story is that they are trying to reflect sunlight from the earth to mitigate global warming. Whatever your feelings on global warming science and rhetoric, that idea is both nonsensical and extremely dangerous, both to our ecosystem and human health. It's even since been proven that a canopy of heavy metal nanoparticulates entraps earth's heat instead of reduces it which shoots that excuse full of holes.

So what are the true purposes? Our governments certainly aren't talking.

You'll find this geoengineered weather control program, as well as other insane ideas such as deliberate algae blooms and underwater sonar experiments worldwide now. Geoengineering is a mainstream term and openly promoted and financed by the taxpayer via the military and from "frontmen" private backers such as the likes of Bill Gates and others. Aerosol spraying is often talked about in the mainstream media as a "future idea" to test the waters and anesthetize public outcry. Don't be fooled.

Apparently it's been sold at various levels as some sort of "emergency measure" to save the planet, no doubt with a lot of pressure, blackmail and bribery. All this despite the fact that anthropomorphic global warming has been thoroughly debunked. Except for, I will add, this toxic spraying program that is wreaking havoc with our climate and weather and precipitating horrific unnatural responses including very dangerous methane releases.

The History of Geoengineering

The existence of geoengineering has been documented since the 1940's with the first spraying used to seed clouds and alter weather patterns for use in agriculture, as well as warfare. Later, radar deflection appears to have become another directive as metallic "chaff" was released into the atmosphere to disrupt electromagnetic transmissions. This is all verifiable via simple internet searches on the subject.

Even less savory uses of aerial spraying have included deliberately infecting targeted populations to test biowarfare techniques, as well as the famous spraying of extremely hazardous "agent orange" to defoliate the jungles of Vietnam, to name just two uses. When it comes to covert operations, aerial spraying has been in use much more than most anyone would care to acknowledge, or even know about in most cases.

Here's a thorough, objective scientifically-based analysis of this ongoing program that is essential to identifying and understanding this phenomenon. The fact that it is not just unacknowledged but even denied by the so-called authorities should give us even more cause for concern.

HAARP and EMF Manipulation – the Key to Weather Warfare

Most everyone is aware that the military will weaponize just about anything. After that it becomes “classified” for “national security”, the ultimate cover. How anyone can think there aren’t massive covert operations in existence all around us escapes me, but that’s the willingly mesmerized world we live in. “Don’t rock the boat...and least of all, don’t challenge authority.”□

“After all, it must be for our own good and protection.”□

A new technology then appeared based on the work of the genius Nikola Tesla whereby an intense antenna array could broadcast extremely powerful radio frequency waves beamed into the earth’s ionosphere and thereby alter its composition, creating a type of plasmic reaction. They found it could be used as a kind of rebounding device to send signals to targeted parts of the globe. Radio engineers have long known and used this reflective principle but this was taking it to new and disturbing levels.

Again, the excuse given for this now well-known program, the original installation for which is called HAARP, or the easily verifiable High Frequency Active Auroral Research Program, was supposedly for benign military purposes, in this case submarine detection and communication. Palatable to the non inquiring, easily placated patriotic mind.

Here’s a much more educated and aware rundown on this technology, well worth the viewing. It includes an admission by the military of controlling the ionosphere that took place just recently, confessing they’ve “moved on” from HAARP to other technologies.

So What About Geoengineering Particulate?

The chemicals used in Stratospheric Aerosol Geoengineering (SAG) are laden with heavy metal particles, again easily verifiable on the net. Multiple independent water and air samples have determined a wide array of particulates raining down on our rivers, streams, plants and animals, and obviously the human race, that are extremely toxic and life altering. The predominant components have been determined to be aluminum and barium oxides, while other components are more than troubling to say the least.

Besides being highly toxic, these metallic particles, much of them nano sized in order to stay afloat as well as able to permeate everything possible, are very sensitive to electromagnetic influences. Upon this concoction in the atmosphere a directed energy device could literally steer the jet stream and local weather patterns.

And this is exactly what they do.

“Owning the Weather in 2025” – a Government Document

A 1996 government document “Weather as a Force Multiplier – Owning the Weather in 2025” revealed a government “study designed to comply with a directive from the chief of staff of the Air Force to examine the concepts, capabilities, and technologies the United States will require to remain the dominant air and space force in the future... This report was produced... in the interest of advancing concepts related to national defense.”

Of course this military “recommendation” has the usual disclaimers; that “this report contains fictional representations of future situations/scenarios” and that “any similarities to real people or events... are for purposes of illustration only”. But see for yourself the mentality behind this massive operation and what their agenda is. To some this might be a great idea. To any thinking person it is beyond disturbing.

Trace back through the years and re-evaluate extreme weather incidents in this new light, and then research the particulars. It's an eye-opener, guaranteed.

Here's an excerpt from their own report:

Executive Summary

In 2025, US aerospace forces can “own the weather” by capitalizing on emerging technologies and focusing development of those technologies to war-fighting applications. Such a capability offers the war fighter tools to shape the battlespace in ways never before possible. It provides opportunities to impact operations across the full spectrum of conflict and is pertinent to all possible futures. The purpose of this paper is to outline a strategy for the use of a future weather-modification system to achieve military objectives rather than to provide a detailed technical road map.

A high-risk, high-reward endeavor, weather-modification offers a dilemma not unlike the splitting of the atom. While some segments of society will always be reluctant to examine controversial issues such as weather-modification, the tremendous military capabilities that could result from this field are ignored at our own peril. From enhancing friendly operations or disrupting those of the enemy via small-scale tailoring of natural weather patterns to complete dominance of global communications and counterspace control, weather-modification offers the war fighter a wide-range of possible options to defeat or coerce an adversary.

The Ultimate Weapon of Mass Destruction: "Owning the Weather" for Military Use

Environmental modification techniques (ENMOD) for military use constitute, in the present context of global warfare, the ultimate weapon of mass destruction.

Rarely acknowledged in the debate on global climate change, the world's weather can now be modified as part of a new generation of sophisticated electromagnetic weapons. Both the US and Russia have developed capabilities to manipulate the climate for military use.

Environmental modification techniques have been applied by the US military for more than half a century. US mathematician John von Neumann, in liaison with the US Department of Defense, started his research on weather modification in the late 1940s at the height of the Cold War and foresaw 'forms of climatic warfare as yet unimagined'. During the Vietnam war, cloud-seeding techniques were used, starting in 1967 under Project Popeye, the objective of which was to prolong the monsoon season and block enemy supply routes along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

The US military has developed advanced capabilities that enable it selectively to alter weather patterns. The technology, which is being perfected under the High-frequency Active Auroral Research Program (HAARP), is an appendage of the Strategic Defense Initiative – 'Star Wars'. From a military standpoint, HAARP is a weapon of mass destruction, operating from the outer atmosphere and capable of destabilising agricultural and ecological systems around the world.

Weather-modification, according to the US Air Force document AF 2025 Final Report, “offers the war fighter a wide range of possible options to defeat or coerce an adversary”, capabilities, it says, extend to the triggering of floods, hurricanes, droughts and earthquakes: ‘Weather modification will become a part of domestic and international security and could be done unilaterally... It could have offensive and defensive applications and even be used for deterrence purposes. The ability to generate precipitation, fog and storms on earth or to modify space weather... and the production of artificial weather all are a part of an integrated set of [military] technologies.”

UN Acknowledges and Bans Weather Warfare

In 1977, an international Convention was ratified by the UN General Assembly which banned ‘military or other hostile use of environmental modification techniques having widespread, long-lasting or severe effects.’ It defined ‘environmental modification techniques’ as ‘any technique for changing –through the deliberate manipulation of natural processes – the dynamics, composition or structure of the earth, including its biota, lithosphere, hydrosphere and atmosphere, or of outer space.’

According to the Convention on the Prohibition of Military or Any Other Hostile Use of Environmental Modification Techniques:

The term “environmental modification techniques” refers to any technique for changing – through the deliberate manipulation of natural processes – the dynamics, composition or structure of the Earth, including its biota, lithosphere, hydrosphere and atmosphere, or of outer space. (Convention on the Prohibition of Military or Any Other Hostile Use of Environmental Modification Techniques, United Nations, Geneva: 18 May 1977)

While the substance of the 1977 Convention was reasserted in the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) signed at the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio, debate on weather modification for military use has become a scientific taboo.

Military analysts and scientists are mute on the subject. Meteorologists are not investigating the matter and environmentalists are focused on greenhouse gas emissions under the Kyoto Protocol. Neither is the possibility of climatic or environmental manipulations as part of a military and intelligence agenda, while tacitly acknowledged, part of the broader debate on climate change under UN auspices. But Why Would They?

Ironically, this question deters more people from accepting the obvious facts before their very eyes than anything. Whether it's 9/11, obvious economic manipulations, governmental betrayals or the concerted assault on our food, water and health, the implications are apparently too hard for most to handle.

Humanity is being manhandled and manipulated on a massive scale, and as Hitler and other despots have pointed out, the bigger the lie, the less they'll challenge it.

This is a subject for serious thought and consideration, not off-handed dismissal in the stigmatized name of "conspiracy theory". Any challenge to today's ruling oligarchy and the overarching onslaught on our planet we're witnessing is readily swept under the rug of that convenient label.

Either we wake up and take action, or our very lives and the life of our planet are in imminent peril – and may very well be extinguished.

Please investigate for yourself. And look up. The evidence couldn't be any more obvious.
